MAY CALL THE STATE POLICE HERE WATER MAIN BURST AT TOWER'S COR., EDWARD CHAPMAN ELECTROCUTED

Judge Enright Wants Investigation of Liquor Sold in Local Saloons

Judge Enright at this morning's session of the police court commented on the number of people arrested for drunkenness for the past few days and said he is of the opinion that there is something wrong in the liquor sold in local saloons or drug stores, and he wishes the police to investigate and if necessary get the assistance of the state police.

There was another large number of people arrested for drunkenness yesterday and at the opening of today's session the judge said: "There have been about 100 men arrested for drunkenness for the past three days, and I firmly believe there is something wrong with the quality of the liquor sold in local saloons and drug stores. I wish the police would take samples of the liquor and conduct a thorough investigation, and in order to do this I will call on the state police if necessary."

As a matter of fact there have been 22 arrests for drunkenness since yesterday morning and the court may be alarmed, for yesterday there was also a very large number of offenders listed before His Honor, while Saturday and Sunday 56 arrests were made for the abusive use of intoxicating liquor. Of the number arrested yesterday, nine who were first offenders were released by the probation officer, while six others were fined $2 each, among them being an aged couple, a brother and sister, who were given a lecture by the judge.

Michael O'Connell, John J. Kelley and Stephen H. Richards, all old timers, were sent to the state farm. John O'Brien was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail, Joseph Dunning, Hugh Magee and Peter McLane, were fined $6 each.

Young Man Fined $20

David Barton, a young man hailing from Providence, R. I., who was arrested by Patrolman Clark for the alleged larceny of pants and other pieces of clothing from King's, Macartney's and Putnam's stores, while trying to dispose of the goods on Middlesex street, was arraigned before Judge Enright this morning and through his counsel, D. J. Donahue, entered a plea of guilty. He was charged with larceny on three counts, and was fined $20 on one count, while the others were placed on file. The court was informed that the young man had a very good family in Providence and that this was his first arrest, and this is what led the judge to be lenient.

Bonnie Purcell and John Hickory, two boys, aged about 15 years, who were arrested for larceny of a dozen clocks from the Boston & Maine railroad company, each valued at $2.50 apiece, and whose case had been continued to this morning, were both fined $20 apiece, and were placed on probation for a term of two months in which time they will pay the said fines. Before disposing of the case the judge said the railroad companies ought to padlock their cars instead of using the small lead seals, and this would safeguard the merchandise better and the cars would not be so tempting for the boys. He said he will advocate this at the judge's meeting Saturday.

CITY SOLICITOR DEFINES POWERS
Of Commissioner of Finance—
Says He Cannot Prevent City
Meeting its Obligations

As the result of certain statements made by Commissioner Brown at yesterday's meeting of the municipal council relative to his powers as commissioner of finance, City Auditor Paige requested an opinion from the city solicitor relative to the ordinance defining the duties of the city auditor. City Solicitor Hennessy this morning submitted the following opinion to the auditor and treasurer:

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 29, 1913.
Charles D. Paige, Esq., City Auditor,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: In response to your request for an opinion relative to the ordinance defining the duties of the city auditor and of the city treasurer, the city solicitor submits to you as his opinion that, pursuant to section 12 and section 17 of the ordinance referred to, the city auditor and the city treasurer shall obey the order, vote or resolution of the municipal council. The commissioner of finance is not a necessary adjunct to the carrying out of the will of the municipal council in the matter of payment of the city's obligations. The only exception, however, being that in case of the payment of interest on the city's notes and bonds, the ordinance empowers the commissioner of finance, without any action of the municipal council, to issue a draft to be countersigned by the city auditor, directing the treasurer to pay such moneys for interest as the draft may order. That is the only instance where the commissioner of finance possesses a directive power independent of the municipal council with regard to the obligations and duties of the office, either of the city auditor or of the city treasurer.

To the other questions propounded by you relative to the necessity of requiring the signature of the commissioner of finance for the payment of bills contracted and approved by the commissioners of other departments, the city solicitor is of the opinion that no such requirement is necessary; for, it would indeed be a sad commentary upon the government and upon our law, if such control or power should be placed in the hands of any one man who could arbitrarily, capriciously or otherwise so hamper or prevent the business of the government; clearly then does it appear to me that no certification of the commissioner of finance is required to make effectual any contract or obligation created by the municipal council, or by the administrative head of any department, except his own. Except for the payment of notes, bonds and interest thereon, no signature of any commissioner is necessary for the authentication of the draft sheet.

In a word then, the city auditor's duties are clearly defined by law and ordinance, so too are the duties of the city treasurer, and the amendment of the charter in no wise changed or abrogated those duties as defined by law.

Respectfully,
J. Joseph Hennessy,
City Solicitor.

WATER MAIN BURST AT TOWER'S COR.,
CAUSING $75,000 DAMAGEExcitement While Engines Pumped
From Cellars and Water Dept.
Sought Break—Located at Noon

Great excitement was caused early this morning by rushing waters at Tower's corner and vicinity, and at once it was concluded that a water-main had burst. The water department and later the fire department were notified, and when the fire engines arrived the basements of buildings in the vicinity were flooded some to a depth of fourteen feet. The break was located about noon on the curve near the sidewalk in front of the Donovan building. The water in the reservoir showed a loss of 1,000,000 gallons as a result of the break. The water pumped into the sewers caused the latter to back up in many cellars and thus much indirect damage resulted. The total loss will probably reach $75,000 and it will cost much more to relay a main that will stand the pressure and supply that district with water.

The 12-inch pipe of the city's water supply burst at Tower's corner early this morning and flooded the cellars of most of the buildings located in that vicinity, causing great damage to property and goods of the occupants. The heating apparatus in several of the buildings was disabled, several of the cables of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company were rendered temporarily useless and in many cases business operations were suspended.

Break Discovered Early

The exact time at which the break in the main occurred is not known, but it was discovered shortly before 6 o'clock this morning by John O'Connor, night watchman for the New England Telephone Company, who immediately got into communication with the water department at city hall. Mr. O'Connor, however, although said to have been the first to notice the bursting of the pipe, was not the only one to make the discovery and between 5 and 6 o'clock there were numerous telephone messages from watchmen to the department in regard to the flooding of cellars.

It was some time before the water broke forth to the street, where it was seen by passersby. The concrete walk in front of the Tower's Corner drug store was where the water first broke through and it formed a small fountain there. Almost simultaneously it broke through the paving of the street at the corner of Central and Gorham streets near the junction of the car tracks of the Bay State St. Railway Company. A short time ago the street railway company had new tracks on the curve and a temporary pavement was placed there which was not as solid and as strong as the surface of the other parts of the street, and it was here that the water broke through in the greatest volumes, gushing forth and forming a fountain that rose high in the air. The water from these places and from several other smaller streams flowed down Central street to the vicinity of the canal bridge, and was partly frozen, forming a sheet of ice in the roadway.

Fire Department Called

The fire department was called out as soon as the knowledge of the bursting of the pipe came into the office of the city auditor.

NEW OFFICERS APPOINTED POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS

Two Supernumeraries
Promoted to Force

Mayor O'Donnell has appointed Patrick Flaherty to be a supernumerary police officer, Mr. Flaherty standing at the head of the civil service list. His Honor has also appointed Supernumerary Officers L. G. A. Lemay and Jerome Cullen to the regular police force. The mayor had two appointments to make upon the consolidated list of supernumeraries found that Officer Lemay led the list by a narrow margin over Officers Jerome Cullen and Wm. Keegan, who were tied for second place. His Honor appointed Officer Lemay and then sent for Officers Cullen and Keegan and explained the situation to them. Officer Keegan graciously withdrew in favor of his brother officer and the latter received the second appointment. Officer Keegan will receive the next appointment. He is at present on duty at Kett's theatre and has been frequently complimented by the management and patrons of the theatre for his unfailing courtesy and attention to duty.

Mr. O'Sullivan's Policy
Favored at Washington

At a hearing before the currency committee in Washington yesterday, Prot. J. T. Brooks of Mississippi Agricultural college favored a policy by which he advocated the retention of the deposits of postal savings banks in the localities in which they were made so that the money can be loaned out through other banks to the people of the district and thus overcome the injury done by taking so much money out of the community served by each particular bank.

This policy was advocated by Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan during his campaign for congress showing that in this point at least he anticipated the Mississippi professor.

ATTENDED CONFERENCE

Musicians Meet in Worcester—Charles A. Delaronde Represented Lowell at Session

Charles A. Delaronde, secretary-treasurer of the local Musicians' union, has returned from Worcester, where he represented the Lowell organization of musicians at a conference of New England locals.

The affair was largely attended, there being 45 delegates representing 24 locals with a membership of over 6000. The meeting was held at Lexington.

At the first thing on the program was a delightful repast at the close of which several questions of importance pertaining to the welfare of the Musicians' union were discussed, the main object being to raise the standard of musicians and also to equalize prices all over New England.

Several good speakers were heard and the speeches were followed by a general discussion by the delegates. The next conference will be held in Lawrence in the latter part of April.

The cities represented at the conference were: Springfield, Lawrence, New Bedford, Fall River, Boston, Athol, Fitchburg, Brockton, Natick, South Framingham, Lowell, Haverhill, Worcester, Marlboro, Manchester, and Norwich, Mass., Providence, R. I., Nashua, and Manchester, N. H., Portland, Me., Norwich, Hartford, Wilimartine, New London and New Britain, Conn.

Foreman at Fletcher's Quarry Instantly Killed While Passing
Cable Over Trolley Wire

Word came from the Fletcher quarry at Westford that Edward Chapman, the foreman, was electrocuted as a result of having accidentally come in contact with an electric wire carrying 1300 volts. The man was killed instantly and parts of his body were burned to a crisp before he could be extricated. The accident happened this forenoon while some men were at work fastening a metal guy rope to a derrick at the quarry. The rope had to be passed over the wire and the only way in which this could be done was by having a man climb up one of the poles which support the wires and from that position pass the guy rope over the live trolley wire. Edward Chapman climbed to the top of this pole and another man took a position on the pole just beneath Mr. Chapman. Below on the ground were several others and these passed the guy rope up to the man below Mr. Chapman and he in turn passed it up to the latter. As soon as he touched the wire he fell across the wire and was instantly killed by electrocution, the wire guy rope having evidently short circuited the current. The man below on the pole slid down the ladder on which he was standing and he was unhurt.

Chapman has been in the employ of the Fletcher quarry for about two years. His nearest relatives are living in England, but he has two or three uncles in this country. He has no family. The remains are still at the quarry awaiting the arrival of the undertaker, Thomas Farrell of North Chelmsford.

DRAFT FOR PAYMENT OF AUTO BILL

Turned Over to City Treasurer—
Appointment of Inspector Illegal

City Auditor Paige, acting upon the order of the municipal council and fortified with an opinion from the city solicitor which appears elsewhere today, turned over to City Treasurer Stiles, a draft for $530, for the payment by the city to the Knox Automobile company for the construction of an auto fire apparatus ordered by the municipal council and subsequently accepted by the city.

Commissioner of Finance Brown had ordered both city officials not to carry out the wishes of the municipal council in the matter, incidentally threatening an injunction to restrain the city from paying the bill. Commissioner Brown held a conference at his office with private counsel on the matter at which it is intimated his counsel was of the opinion that the commissioner would lose should he attempt to prevent the payment of the indebtedness. The city auditor was present at the conference and it was subsequent to the meeting that he gave the signed draft to the city treasurer.

The Knox company of Springfield received the city's check this afternoon.

Appointment Illegal

Joseph Smith, chairman of the local board of civil service examiners, called upon Mayor O'Donnell at City Hall this morning to notify His Honor that if Commissioner Brown has appointed an inspector in the supply department without recourse to the civil service requirements in Mr. Smith's opinion the appointment is illegal. Mr. Smith stated that the position is classed as a clerical position under the civil service laws, and as such can only be filled in the manner prescribed by law, namely from a list of eligibles or by examination.

GIRL'S ARM BROKEN, HORSE KILLED

Miss Taft's Chum Injured in Run-away Accident—Horse Ran Into Street Car

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—While horseback riding late yesterday with Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president, and two other companions, Miss Martha Bowers, daughter of the late Solicitor-General Lloyd Bowers, was thrown from her mount and laid her right arm broken, while her horse was instantly killed in collision with a street car. Miss Taft and the others escaped injury.

The party were riding down a steep hill when Miss Bowers' horse became unmanageable and dashed away at a headlong speed.

Miss Bowers' horse ran into a street car, throwing Miss Bowers violently to the pavement. A moment later Miss Taft and other members of the party, which included

Miss Isabel Vincent of Minneapolis, a guest of Miss Taft at the White House, and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, past assistant surgeon in the navy and medical aide to the president, reached Miss Bowers' side.

Aided by Miss Taft, Miss Bowers was carried to a nearby physician's office, where she was given first aid treatment. Later it was decided to remove her to a hospital.

Miss Taft immediately telephoned to the White House for an automobile and took to the hospital with Miss Bowers. The president's daughter spent several hours at the hospital and saw to it that everything possible was done to relieve the suffering of her friend.

Physicians made a careful examination of Miss Bowers' injuries and found that in addition to a double fracture of the right forearm, she sustained lacerations of the scalp and lacerations of the body. It was said at the hospital last night that Miss Bowers was resting comfortably.

STRIKE IS AVERTED

Longshoremen Given Some Concessions

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—The threatened strike of the Boston longshoremen has been averted, for the time being, at least, as the result of conferences held yesterday between committees of the Trans-Atlantic Steamship Agents' conference and a committee of the Boston A. F. of L. Longshoremen's trade council, which was followed by brief sessions between the agents and committee representing the K. of L. men on the docks.

On some of the wharves no secret was made of the fact that the union's officials had instructions to keep hands off telephones yesterday noon for orders and that the men might not have returned to work after dinner if the conference proceedings had not promised possibilities of an amicable adjustment.

By agreement between the agents and the men's committee, no statement of the propositions offered the men were made public. The propositions will be submitted by a special meeting of the Boston A. F. of L. Longshoremen's trade council, which is to be held tonight in Roughton hall, Charles-Egan, and by the K. of L. committee to a meeting tonight of Noddle Island Assembly, K. of L. of East Boston.

The decisions of each body will be communicated to the agents' committee at once, and further conferences will be held.

It is possible that the A. F. of L. council will call special meetings of the council and East Boston longshoremen to consider the propositions. The regular meetings of these bodies will not be held until a week from Sunday, and the desire of all concerned is to have the matter definitely settled as soon as possible.

The wage and working rules question has been pending since the adjustment of the men's strike last winter.

Agents John H. Thomas of the International Mercantile Marine, Charles Stewart of the Cunard, John Wyde of the Hamburg-American and John E. Cusick of the A. C. Lombard Sons lines represented the agents at both conferences.

International Vice Pres. William F. Dempsey, Adam McBain, who is president of both the council and the East Boston union, Pres. William O'Brien of O'Connell union of Charlestown, and George W. Brady of Provident longshoremen's union and secretary of the council, were the committee for the A. F. of L. organizations.

William Huban, Edward Palmer and Robert J. Colbert of Noddle Island assembly, K. of L. and District Sec. Trans. P. J. McCarthy composed the committee for the K. of L. men.

The conference with the A. F. of L. committee began at 11 yesterday morning at the offices of Sec. Wyde of the agents' conference in the Chamber of Commerce building and continued, without interruption, until 2:45 in the afternoon, when the agreement to submit the additional offers of the agents was made.

At 3:15 the K. of L. committee went into conference with the agents and was in session an hour. The proceedings of the previous conference were read to them, and the same offer made to them, and it was agreed that it be submitted at the meeting of Noddle Island assembly tonight.

"There will be no strike," was the only statement which would be made by Chairman Thomas of the agents' committee after the conference.

"No definite settlement was made, but the agents made some additional concessions which will be submitted to the men," was the only comment the A. F. of L. committee would make.

The K. of L. committee later stated that the agent's proposition, as made to the A. F. of L. committee, would be submitted at the meeting of Noddle Island assembly tonight, and that no matter what action was taken by the men of either of the organizations, further conferences with the agents had been agreed to by the committees of both organizations.

It is understood that the agents stand firm on their previous offer of 23 cents an hour for day work and 30 cents an hour for night work on cargo, with the 40 cents an hour rate for Sundays and holidays to continue as at present, but that they make some material concessions regarding bulk cargo, sugar, etc., for which higher rates are now paid, and also on some of the working rules and other matters.

It is said that the A. F. of L. committee offered to submit the entire matter to arbitration, but that the agents declared that while they would agree to submit the working rules questions they would not agree to arbitration in the wages matter.

GUESTS PANIC-STRICKEN

Fire Broke Out in Haverhill Hotel

HAVERTHILL, Jan. 28.—Guests of the Appleton House on Fleet street, a three-story wooden building, were seriously endangered when fire broke out about midnight last night in the hotel office.

The only egress from the second and third stories is by the stairway, and this goes past the office and was cut off by the flames. There are no fire-escapes, but the ropes placed in the bedrooms, and the guests, roused suddenly from their sleep, were panic-stricken and would have jumped from the windows if the firemen had not forced them to wait.

James Davis, the clerk, who with William Moidley runs the hotel, jumped from a window on the second floor and broke his right leg. The firemen took Pollard Burton, Joseph Gallina, Joseph Smith and William Smith down their ladders.

In a room on the third floor the firemen found Miss Mary Proctor of Melrose street, Boston. She was nearly overcome by the smoke, but after she had been carried down a ladder to the street she quickly recovered.

The cause of the fire is unknown. The fire did not spread far and the fire loss is set at $1000 only, but smoke and water caused damage of another $1000. The liquor store of Palmer & Peck, which shares the ground floor with the hotel office, suffered considerable damage.

OYSTERS WORTH $2,000,000

Rich Harvest From Rhode Island Beds, According to State Commission's Report

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 28.—The oyster and clam commission reported its operations to the legislature yesterday for the past year, reporting receipts of $131,162.

The report states that the amount of capital invested in the industry exceeds $2,000,000, that the employees total approximately 600, with an average weekly wage of $20, and that the value of oysters harvested from the fisheries of the state will amount to about $3,000,000 per year.

Discussing the sanitary conditions, the report reads in part:

"The continued use of the rivers and estuaries of Narragansett bay as a receptacle for sewage from the cities and towns situated upon their banks has caused a condition which is exceedingly unsatisfactory to the oyster man."

The commission asks for power to protect claims by closing the rivers for a certain time, and it also urges further leasing of the exemption grounds.

Treating with the fact that there is a reported shortage of shellfish, the report says: "The reason why our public fishing grounds are so barren of shellfish is the action of the fishermen themselves, for they are continually taking from these grounds, irrespective of age or size, any and all kinds of shellfish."

"We do not think that it would be advisable to close the public grounds to the use of the fishermen at the present time."

MARCH OUT QUIETLY

Eight Hundred Girls at Roxbury High School Unaware There Was Really a Fire in Building

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—Thinking that they were simply taking part in one of the fire drills that occur frequently, 800 young women and girls filed quickly out of the main building and annex of the Roxbury High school on Warren street, yesterday afternoon, in ignorance of the fact that there was really a fire in the building. In less than two minutes after Headmaster Charles M. Gray called the fire drill all the pupils and teachers had reached a place of safety.

The blaze started in the tower of the main building, where workmen were cleaning the paint with gasoline. Within a few moments the fire had reached the crossbeams and the workmen were forced to flee for safety. Frank Turner, the janitor, and one of the workmen put out the flames with extinguishers.

Change The Vibration It Makes for Health

A man, at odds with his stomach, tried leaving off his usual diet, and adopted a breakfast of and cream.

His health began to improve for the reason that once in a while one will reach a place where the system becomes clogged and the machinery doesn't work smoothly.

A change of this kind puts aside bulky food of low nutritive value and takes up food of the highest value—partly pre-digested and quickly changed into good, rich blood and healthy tissue.

A few weeks' use of Grape-Nuts food gives one a degree of nervous strength and comfort well worth the trial.

A DRUMMER'S TALE

They Sometimes Tell True Ones

A quarter of a century 'on the road' gives one some knowledge of hotel life and the old drummer's experience with food is worth listening to.

"After 25 years service as a commercial traveler with its vicissitudes I found myself about a year ago very much the worse for wear."

"At that time I was suffering from nervous dyspepsia, my appetite was poor and I could not sleep, finally reaching a state bordering on complete breakdown."

"As medicine had failed utterly to help me I was forced to look into the diet and find out what I learned induced me to try a course of Grape-Nuts and cream."

"When it was not on the bill of fare I asked for it and usually got it; so for several months I made my complete breakfast on Grape-Nuts with milk and then a bit of toast."

"Improvement commenced immediately and has kept up steadily and now my general health is fine, better than it has been for years and I attribute the improvement to the use of Grape-Nuts."

"I have proved in my own case this food is perfect for stomach and nervous troubles and can recommend it to all my fellow commercial travelers."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Although Grape-Nuts is not always on the bill of fare nearly every hotel has it in the kitchen and the guests can get it if called for.

FOR ANOTHER HOLIDAY BOTH

Rep. Achin Would Add

New Year's to List

The bill presented by Rep. Henri Achin, Jr., of this city, for the making of New Year's day a legal holiday, came before the committee on legal affairs at the state house yesterday and the delegation from Lowell to attend was very large.

Rep. Achin spoke at length on his bill, saying that the reason for the bill was that in every state in the Union except Kansas and Massachusetts, this special day is a legal holiday. Massachusetts has but seven holidays, he said, while Louisiana has twelve, New York nine, Rhode Island nine. When 20,000 people assembled on Boston common last New Year's eve, he thought no further demonstration was needed to show the sentiment of the people. It comes in the Christmas season and may well be observed in connection with that religious holiday time.

Clarence W. Rowley of Boston also sustained the bill saying he didn't believe Massachusetts wished to emulate Kansas where the men wear beads down to their waists. He thought this too intelligent a state to continue in such company. The bill, he closed now and so are many of the people, he said, he believed the people wanted the day as a holiday as evidenced by the great gathering on Boston common. Others who spoke in favor of the bill were Rep. Victor E. Jewett of Lowell, Rep. John F. Sullivan of Boston, Rep. P. J. McCarthy of Boston, Ex-Rep. Charron, as well as Frank Heard of this city.

The Lowell delegation present consisted of the following: Joseph Partridge, Joseph L. Lemaire, James Lehoucq, Frank Heard, Herward S. Desmarais and Joseph E. Tucker of Lowell, and Joseph E. Tucker of Lowell and Centralia Social clubs and Citizens-American club.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Lowell party were the guests of Rep. Achin and Jewett of this city and they all remained in the city and the return trip was made late in the evening.

LEAVE TRUNKS

"Dad" White and Young

Girl Elope

TILTON, N. H., Jan. 28.—Harry F. White, better known as "Dad" White, athletic coach and a member of the faculty at Tilton seminary, has left town, and, according to a persistent rumor, a young woman student at the seminary has also suddenly departed from the school. The students believe they have an elopement to discuss.

The young woman mentioned in the case is Miss Catherine A. Hourin of Boston. According to report, she prevailed upon a friend to carry her suitcase to the Tilton station while she strolled down without baggage.

Railroad officials remember selling a mileage to White. It is alleged both the coach and the young woman took the 8:27 train, southbound, Monday afternoon. News of the case did not become known until yesterday, but the school and town are now thoroughly interested.

It is said Miss Hourin has been on the stage. It is also reported that before entering Tilton seminary last fall she had been in a convent.

One of the men with whom White became confidential Monday was John Charnland, proprietor of a lunch room, which is a favorite eating place for seminary students. White told Charnland, the latter says, that he was going to leave the seminary and leave it for good, and that "someone was going with him."

White has made good as athletic coach. He came here last fall from his home in Waltham, Mass. In 1906-1907 he captained the Waltham high school football team. He played basketball on the University of Vermont eleven for two years and was considered the best back the college ever had. There he transferred to Fordham college and there gained more fame as a member of the football team, the relay team and the basketball and basketball teams.

White occupied rooms in the dormitory connected with the new dining hall and had charge of this portion of the school buildings. He also taught several branches. He turned out a championship football team last fall and the basketball team was doing well under his direction.

School officials say that they simply knew White and Miss Hourin have left the school. They had no reason for going away and gave no notice of their intention of leaving. They both left their trunks at the school.

Naturalization of Aliens

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Married aliens whose families are in their native land must bring them to the United States before they can become citizens, according to a ruling of Federal Judge A. B. Anderson of Indianapolis, who is sitting here in place of Judge K. M. Landis. The court made the ruling as a general policy relative to the naturalization of aliens. For this reason out of 55 applicants for citizenship, Judge Anderson held up the applications of two.

AN INGENUOUS DEVICE

For Rescue of Persons
Caught in Elevators

BOSTON, Jan. 29.—A novel screw jack, designed for the rescue of persons who are trapped in elevators, has been designed by the officers of the Boston fire department. A patent has been applied for, and the device has given such good results in every test made of it that its inventors are confident it will be the means of saving many lives.

Capt. Edward J. Shallow and Lieut. Michael P. Silva of Ladder 1, on Friend street, are the two officers who have ingeniously designed this machine. Each of them is called upon many times a year to go to the rescue of some unfortunate person who has been descending, or who has had the misfortune to have a limb caught between the car and the wall.

At present it is necessary to almost tear apart the elevator or to saw a piece out of the flooring and lift the body through the hole. This takes much time, and while the workers are doing their best, the injured one is suffering.

The jack, instead of having a lifting power, is built to be used for its pushing power, which is rated at about 10 tons. When it is placed in position and men begin to wind it the elevator is forced upward.

The jack has a heavy steel block near the end, through which the big screw passes. The block is movable and is placed between the elevator and the wall.

The screw, on being turned, pushes through this block against the elevator with the end against the wall. As the screw is turned the block is drawn back and forces the car away from the wall and releases the pressure.

The men of Ladder 1 are proud of this machine and show it to every visitor to the company quarters. Both inventors are clever designers.

A VIGOROUS PROTEST

Boston May be Port of

ST. JOHNS, N. B., Jan. 29.—Reports that Boston may be made a port of call for the new West India steamship line which the Dominion government has been asked to subsidize to the extent of $400,000 a year continue to call forth vigorous protests from business men in this city and Halifax. The anxiously awaited today replies to the communication sent by the local board of trade to George B. Foster, minister of trade and commerce; J. D. Hazen, minister of marine and fisheries; and William Fungley, M. P., at Ottawa. In the communication President J. M. Robinson in the board of trade said: "Our board and every West Indian shipper canvassed protest, vigorously against the Boston call as dangerous to Canadian interests and as likely to divert business from Canadian ports."

WATER MAIN BURST

the department and three engines, namely number 4, from High street, number 16, from Fourth street station and engine number 2, from Branch street. All of these got to work at once, pumping the water out of the building. Engines 4 and 16 were assigned to the Donovan building, where the water had filled the cellar of about 12 feet or more, and by fast and efficient work, they succeeded in reducing the depth to about five feet at 11 o'clock. Engine 5 went to work at Cook & Taylor's dry goods establishment and soon had that cellar cleared, except for about six or seven inches in one end. About 20 members of the fire department under the direction of Chief Hoerner and the assistant chiefs were engaged in the work in a very short time after the break was first reported.

The Break Located
It was not until after the noon hour that the exact point where the pipe burst was found and it was located directly in front of the Lowell Trust company's door, a distance of about six or seven feet from the curb. It was the 12-inch water main and up to the present no cause could be assigned.

Search For the Leak
The men of the water department were gotten out as soon as possible and they set to work at once to locate the break in the pipe. Several excavations were begun, one in the sidewalk in front of Campbell's drug store and another at the junction of the Middlesex and Central street car tracks. All of the cable man holes were opened and by means of hand pumps the water was sent pushing forth from these in great streams. A large crowd of people were attracted to the scene by the excitement and a squadron of policemen were kept busy keeping them back of the ropes.

It was evident from the first that the break in the pipe was near the Donovan building. The pavement of the street was broken through at this point and a short time afterward the force of the water which had escaped from the main washed away the earth from underneath and left nothing but the hard tarsom pavement. This was in a way a great help to the men in discovering the exact location of the source of the flood for it cleared the earth and stone away from the pipe for several feet. The bystanders were ordered away from the spot because of the danger of the street caving in and the workmen, heedless of it, got down into the ditch caused by the wash-out and searched anxiously for the break in the great pipe.

Trust Co. Flooded

The cellar of the Lowell Trust Company suffered most of any of those that were flooded, for the water rose to a depth of ten or twelve feet, filling the entire cellar. In it were stored some old account books, loose leaf ledgers and loose checks which are found in this city, and they were for the most part totally destroyed. Although the financial loss from the destruction of these will not, as yet, be less it will be the cause of great inconvenience. Fortunately, an order had been sent to New York for a quantity of the loose checks and these are ready for shipment, so it was learned by telephonic communication with the firm this morning and they will arrive at the bank as soon as the trains can carry them.

Telephone Co.'s Basement
The basement of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company was flooded to a depth of about four or five feet and the fires in the heating apparatus were extinguished by the water. The cable containing the North Chelmsford lines was disabled for a time but was repaired so as to be ready for use before noon. Several of the other lines, including those in the building in which the Lowell Trust company is located, were out of order and several of the outside cables were damaged.

By breaking into the sewer by means of a trap, the men at the Telephone company managed to get the water out of the basement in a comparatively short space of time and the fires in the furnaces were rebuilt. Everything possible was done by the management to repair the damage to the wires and cables and most of the lines are now in working order.

Liquor Store Watered

The cellar in the liquor dispensing establishment of Daniel Conroy was another to be flooded by the water from the main and here great damage was done. In this cellar were about ten barrels containing whiskey, gin, brandy, etc., and there must have been considerable damage to these goods, although Mr. Conroy was unable to give any estimate because it was impossible for him to enter the cellar. Some of the barrels were floating and had been carried away from their original positions on the floor of the basement. It is thought that these will be almost a complete loss.

Water Gates Closed

The portion of the pipe that burst was underneath and measured approximately eight feet in length, and the ground in the vicinity was undermined for an area, the diameter of which was about 20 feet, leaving nothing but the pavement. The two water gates at the corner of Middlesex and Gorham streets were closed as soon as possible as were also those located near the Boston & Maine depot and this in great measure stopped the strong flow of the water onto the street and into the buildings.

The two engines pumping water from the basement of the Lowell Trust company sent it into the sewer by means of a hose connection.

Not more than a foot and one-half depth of water entered the cellar of the drug store of Frank J. Campbell at Tower's corner, and he said that his damage would amount to approximately $100. There was not much of value stored in this basement and the water was not deep enough to reach the goods which had been placed on tables and shelves.

The management of the Cook & Taylor Dry Goods company could give no estimate of the damage to their store and goods, but this, too, much have reached a considerable amount, for the water flooded the basement to a depth of about three feet. There was a large quantity of cloth in this basement and also quilts, blankets, clothing, etc., and a portion of this was damaged, though, perhaps, not totally destroyed.

In the fruit store of Mr. Janowitch, situated near Tower's corner, there was a quantity of fruit and candy stored in the basement, and here the water caused a heavy loss. The damage to the shoe store and to the drug store of Mr. Moody, at the corner of Appleton and Central streets, was not very great and neither suffered much from the flood.

The Damage

There may have been some indirect damage to the buildings nearby for the exceedingly hard pavement of the street kept the water from gaining an outlet and forced it into the walls and cellars, tending to weaken the foundations.

The total damage cannot be estimated at present but it is roughly estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000.

Telephones Out of Order

Early this afternoon one or two of the suburban telephone lines, including that to Westford and West Chelmsford, were still out of order and repairs could not get into communication with people in those towns.

Mr. Leathers, manager of the Telephone Co., stated to a Sun reporter today that the statement that 500 lines were out of order is an error, and that the disabled lines will not reach that number. He stated further that about 350 lines were temporarily out of use, representing 800 subscribers. It is expected to clear up the other lines before night.

The Car Service

Because of the prompt action of officials of the Bay State Street Railway that company suffered little inconvenience through the bursting of the water main this morning. The Westford street, Chelmsford street and Chelmsford Centre lines were operated as before, without any interruption worthy of mention. The cars on these lines proceed up Central street to Appleton instead of up Gorham, as they ordinarily do, and the Boston and Lowell street cars did the same, crossing over Appleton street to the main tracks on Gorham street.

The cars which traverse Middlesex street were doubled and "shuttle cars" were run from Merrimack square to Tower's corner, where passengers changed to the conveyances which awaited them on the Middlesex street tracks. There were starters and several flag men stationed at Tower's corner to guide passengers and instruct the motormen and conductors of the various branches.

Commissioner Barrett on the Job

Commissioner Barrett was notified of the break about 5 o'clock and was on the scene in a short time. He ordered out the engines from Branch, High and Fourth streets and kept them pumping out the cellars throughout the day. He notified Commissioner Donnelly, who sent a crew of men at work on each catch basin in the vicinity, while another crew with 10 teams scattered sand on the sidewalks along Central street, on which the water had formed a coating of ice.

Commissioner Barrett ordered the water works employees to rip up the street in an effort to locate the leak and was confident of locating it in a few hours.

In regard to the cause of the leak, Commissioner Barrett stated that the cause will be fully investigated as soon as possible. At an early hour the water service in the vicinity was shut off, but before the shut-off the reservoir showed a loss of one million gallons as the result of the leak. Owing to the nature of the pavement on Central street the water had not sufficient force to reach the surface directly, and hence forced its way through any available opening, which accounts for so many cellars being flooded.

Former Main Breaks

The last serious accident of this kind took place on Jan. 6, 1907, in East Merrimack street in front of the immaculate Conception church. The cause the water forced itself to the surface directly over the leak. The year previous a similar accident occurred in Read street, while another occurred in the pumping station yard.

Big time tonight, Lincoln hall.

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR
ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

SAVE YOUR HAIR! DANDERINE DESTROYS DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR AT ONCE—GROWS HAIR, WE PROVE IT

If you care for heavy hair, that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive agent robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots fumble, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, ragged or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best treatment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

Well Dressed Women Are Very Fastidious About Their Footwear--Appropriate Shoes and Stockings

When planning your spring wardrobe, be sure to leave a large surplus of your allowance for footwear, because you will certainly need it. Skirts are still to be seen and in many models they are still at the side, displaying to advantage the lady's well-shod foot, a most excellent thing in woman. Indeed, the next best thing to having an attractive face is having attractive feet. Beauty and style, for style is a certain form of beauty, have a very important place in the world. The new style of life is one that should be considered, for the eye and the sense demand to be pleased. They have, too, another advantage, for they are a magnet, and the eye once pleased, much can be made of the better and higher qualities.

Among birds it is the males that have the fine feathers and the gay plumage, and in savage days it was the men who decked themselves out in gay skirts and who were catered to and courted. Civilization has made women of men, and women have become the leisure class, and so the situation has become reversed, and it is the women who wear comfortable and in keeping with the winter and early spring seasons.

A white topped shoe on a shapely foot is fetching, but white topped shoes have their own place in the wardrobe and should not be worn indiscriminately. They are the result of the prevalence of white gowns and suits. Black shoes and stockings with a white foot are apt to produce a silhouette rather too startling. With these costumes white shoes are not at all practical and require very dainty feet. The white topped shoe solves the problem of the white stocking, and the black vamp shortens the length of the foot, besides being extremely serviceable. In the spring and summer with dark gowns with touches of white or light colors or with white, they are smart looking, but for street wear when the general tone of the costume is dark they are not good form.

Colored hose are selected to go with certain dresses, and they must be the exact tone or one that will contrast harmoniously. For evening wear with the slit skirts gold slippers are particularly smart, and the stockings worn with them must match exactly or be of black silk, which often gives the only touch of the modish black to a toilet. All shades of black are worn, also green and brown, except for young girls, and when one wishes to emphasize a black costume white hose are popular.

When one talks about shoes, gloves seem to come into the mind as a natural sequence. And by the way, the really elegant woman is not wearing gloves with her evening costume, even though her corsage employs the sleeve that finishes above the elbow. Concert singers appear on the stage with red arms and hands that are far from pretty, and yet since it is "grand chic" to go minus gloves these women by uncaring their imperfections are surely taking from their attractions in a physical way. Women have such gorgeous rings and bracelets nowadays that they are perhaps tired of hiding them under gloves.

The shoes and slippers seen in the cut are all the latest modes for early spring wear. Pictured are four favored styles for evening wear—a boot of white kid with rhinestone buttons, a buttoned boot with slashed front, a colonial pump with a rhinestone buckle and an opera slipper of gold lace over pink satin.

One of the groups shows the new styles in tan footwear. The tan boots, one style on the latest English cut with low buttoned tops, are particularly smart. The leather is washable and may easily be cleaned with a sponge dipped in soapy water. These boots do not require disgusting stains from the wet pavement or skirts and are much liked for morning wear with tailored costumes.

A Spotless Tablecloth
All housekeepers feel annoyed at spots on a clean cloth from the sauce bottles. To obviate this the small paper serviette round the bottle, and let it take up the drip and not let it fall on the cloth.

Humely Hints
The air of a cellar or any dark store-room can be kept sweet by hanging tumps of charcoal there in net bags. Every few weeks the charcoal should be taken out, made very hot and returned to the bags.

Midwestern Costume

their pageant, as they call it, were given at night the participants might be attacked. One of them said:

"Even the worst hoodlum would gaze with awe on the pageant we propose giving. I have too much regard for American manhood to think for a moment that the suffragists would receive ill treatment on such a march."

Experience in New York and along the line from New York to Albany proves that the lady was right. During the two great women's suffrage parades that have been held in New York one of the most widely commented upon features was the absence of hoodlums. True, the line of march was bordered by crowds which included men and boys who did not hesitate at "firing" humorous and ironic remarks at the marchers and especially at the men who showed the courage of their convictions by marching in the processions. But, for the most part, there was respectful silence when there were no cheers for the paraders. By good authorities the parades were called worthy to rank with the best conducted processions of men ever seen in New York.

The New York to Albany hike, conducted by "General" Rosalie L. Jones, ended on Dec. 25, after several days of marching. It had for its purpose the delivery of a suffrage message to Gov. Elect Sulzer, since inaugurated governor. Five women marched every step of the way from New York to Albany. Until the end of their days they will have stories to tell of their experiences, pleasant and otherwise along the way. Much of the pleasure they found in the welcome extended to them in cities, towns and villages that dot the banks of the Hudson and at separate farmhouses and residences. In almost every place they were received with respect, and their protests in favor of suffrage were listened to in the same spirit of earnestness with which they were welcomed. Of course they met also men and women son. There's going to be a women's parade as a feature of the grand festivities that will mark the induction into office of the succeeding president. There was an interesting little parade in Washington over the proposed parade for Major Richard S. Stevens, head of the district of Columbia police force, thought the women wanted to parade at night and without his consent, having his refusal in fear that his force would be unable to give adequate protection to the marchers after dark. But when he learned that the suffragists contemplated an "afternoon demonstration," to take place on March 1, the day before the inauguration, he said he would grant the permit.

Leaders of the suffragists were indignant when they were told that if

OLD LINCOLN DINNER

Were No Frills Connected With it

There should be no frills or fluffs about the Lincoln dinner—that is, if it is to be carried out according to the tenets of the martyred president's idea of life, which was "plain living and high thinking." The dinner, too, should not be at the now fashionable hour of 7, 8 or even later, but between the hours of 2 and 6. If possible, the dining room should be lighted by side brackets on a central hanging light, neither candles nor lamps being placed on the table. A plain damask dining cloth is the only one to use, and in the middle of the table there should be no centerpiece, save a tall centerpiece containing fruit.

The menu might consist of roast turkey, roast duck, or both; cranberry jelly, sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes, celery, onions, mince pie, wine, fruit, apples, oranges, bananas, nuts, raisins and coffee.

The forms of wine jelly as well as the nuts and raisins should be on the table throughout the meal. The meats and vegetables should be all set on together, the former being carved by the hostess.

To carry out the old-fashioned dinner procedure, when nuts and raisins are served, the damask cloth should be removed, displaying the mahogany board. The guests themselves assist in removing the cloth. At the end of the dining room there should be a toast drunk to the memory of Lincoln.

SUFFRAGETTES ARE TO DO A "DAN O'LEARY" FROM NEW YORK CITY TO WASHINGTON

These suffragists who marched from New York to Albany must have wanted to know that there was something on foot—Southern Lumberman.

To be sure, there was something on foot, and there's going to be something more on foot soon when the marching suffragettes go on their hike from New York to Washington. The recent successful march for suffrage from New York to Albany was an intrastate affair. The bigger and longer procession will be an interstate function and is expected to attract correspondingly wider notice. It will be led by "General" Rosalie L. Jones, commander of the recent pilgrims from New York to Albany.

The projected walk to Washington from New York is a natural sequel of the success of the New York to Albany procession. If women untried to tramping can cover the 150 miles that lie between the mouth of the Hudson and the head of navigation, tramping over roads good, bad and indifferent and scattering on the way the seeds of their own fervent belief in the rightness of the "votes for women" cause, why may they not cover the same way the 225 miles that lie between the national metropolis and the capital?

Besides, there is the added stimulus of winning up the New York to Washington hike by making a grand spurge at the inauguration of President Wilson. There's going to be a women's parade as a feature of the grand festivities that will mark the induction into office of the succeeding president.

Even the worst hoodlum would gaze with awe on the pageant we propose giving. I have too much regard for American manhood to think for a moment that the suffragists would receive ill treatment on such a march."

Manager H. F. Keith's Theatre, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—We, the undersigned officers of the Australian Convict Ship, "Success," bearing that you have Hardeen performing at your theatre this week, beg to inform you that we would like the privilege of fastening him into an old British convict suit. It is a device that secures the body from head to feet, and is the only one of its kind in existence.

We may mention that there is no record of any prisoner ever escaping from this contrivance. If your man, Hardeen, will accept this challenge, we should require him to release himself in full view of the audience, so that he could not receive any outside assistance.

An early reply will oblige.

VALENTINE CUSTOMS

Some of the Old Time Tricks of the Day

Good morrow to you, Valentine! Curl your hair as I do mine. Two before and three behind—Good morrow to you, Valentine!

These lures used to be sung by the poor children of Hertfordshire, Eng., as they would go round early St. Valentine's morning in the houses of the rich, who would throw them wreaths and lovers' knots from the windows. With these the children bedecked themselves, and, choosing one of the youngest among them, they made him appear smarter than the rest and led by him marched around again singing the same verse under the windows of their patrons.

There is a superstition mentioned by Shakespeare and writers before and after him of birds mating on the 14th of February, but it cannot be verified in any books on birds. True enough, some birds do mate on that day, but more mate on the other days, later or earlier, according to latitude, because this month is the last before spring, when the birds get together and make their summer arrangements for nest building and family raising. It is rather a pretty superstition, however, and it should continue, just as the sending of tender Valentines is a pretty sentiment, and we should not permit the growing tendency to material things which is making us of the earth earthy to take away from us St. Valentine's day and the sentiment it stands for.

A Bureau Necessity
A pin tray or small pin cushion should be on every girl's or woman's bureau, and the pins should be put into these at night when perhaps a pin or two will have to be taken out of the stock collar or belt. The pins used in pinning on a veil should always be put back in the veiling after it has been carefully folded up and before placing in the hatbox or bureau drawer.

Improving Coffee
Adding a pinch of salt and piece of butter size of a bean to coffee will make the flavor much better and also settle the coffee.

JERRY O'DWYER WAS NOT KILLED

As Supposed by His Lowell Friends in a Battle in the Philippines

Mr. Jerry O'Dwyer, a conductor on the Broadway car line, has been in a serious state of mind since Monday when he heard of the death of a number of the members of Troop F, 8th U. S. Cavalry, in the Philippines. His boy, Jeremiah T. O'Dwyer, is a member of that troop and, as the names of those who were killed were not given in the press despatches, Mr. O'Dwyer was fearful lest his son was among the victims.

The Sun yesterday wired the navy department at Washington for information upon this matter and received the following reply:

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28, 1913. Editor Sun, Lowell, Mass.

The war department has no information that Jeremiah T. O'Dwyer of Troop F, 8th Cavalry, was killed or wounded. The name is not in the list of soldiers killed and wounded in the Philippine Islands on the 26th inst.

Miss Helen Usher, a sister of the bride, attended her as bridesmaid and she wore a gown of white tulle and a white picture hat. She too carried American Beauty roses. Mr. James H. Ashworth was best man. The wedding was one of the prettiest that has taken place in this city for some time and there were present many relatives and friends of the couple, and several out-of-town guests.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Simpson gave a reception to relatives and friends at the home of the bride's parents. There left on the 6.15 train for a wedding trip on which they will visit Boston, Providence and Worcester. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson are well known young people of this city and have a great host of friends who showed upon them many beautiful and costly gifts and wishes for future happiness. They will be at home to friends in this city after February 1st.

Lively Runaway

A light colored horse, hitched to a covered box trap came dashing through Merrimack square and over Bridge street about 4 o'clock yesterday, and when he was crossing the bridge collided with a wagon driven by Charles Schell, the Grand street car dealer, hurling the latter from the team and slightly crushing his left foot.

Card of Thanks

The undersigned wish to express their heartfelt thanks to those relatives, neighbors and friends who by their many acts of kindness, words of consolation and beautiful floral offerings helped to lighten the burden of sorrow in their recent bereavement. To each and all they are especially grateful and will ever remember their kindness.

BROWN HOLDS UP AUTO BILL

Against Advice of City Solicitor—Order to Borrow $13,000 for Vaults Adopted

The meeting of the municipal council was called to order at 8:10 o'clock yesterday. In the absence of the mayor, who is confined to his home with a severe illness, Commissioner Barrett presided.

The first matter taken up was a petition from the Lowell Co-operative association to keep and store gasoline. The petition was granted.

To Borrow $13,000

An order for the borrowing of $13,000 for the construction of four steel vaults in the police station, the said money to be paid in 20 annual payments, was read. Commissioner Cummings said that for a number of years this has been advocated, especially since the fire at Chelsea, which destroyed all police records. He said

If the vaults are not constructed the county commissioners will have the court records removed to the court house in Gorham street. He also stated that plans were drawn and adopted by those interested.

The commissioner then made a motion that the order be adopted.

Commissioner Brown asked Commissioner Cummings if he could not build these vaults with last year's appropriation to which Mr. Cummings replied that he had $150 left from last year. The order was adopted.

A petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation to construct additional conduits in Merrimack street from Prescott street about 45 feet, was read. Commissioner Barrett stated that Prescott street will be torn up and later retained by the street department. The L. E. Light Corp. and N. E. T. & Tel. Co. to bear expenses. The petition was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways with power to grant the petition.

That Furniture Bill

The hearing on the communication of Adams & Co., on a bill for furniture purchased a year ago for the streets and highways department, was held.

A representative of the company said that shortly after inauguration day in 1912 he was called by Commissioner Brown, who said he wanted furniture for his office that he had been ordered to do so by the municipal council. A carpet, draperies and shades and a roll top desk were purchased and the walls were decorated and all was charged to the street department. Everything was made up for that purpose. At this point Commissioner Brown asked several questions, such as "Did you speak to Mayor O'Donnell about this bill?" the reply being "no." He also asked if his company fitted the mayor's office while he (Brown) was mayor of the city, the reply being in the affirmative.

Questioned by Mr. Barrett as to the price of some furniture, Mr. Barrett said the couch cost $35, draperies for office $150, desk $60 and a roll top desk $58.

Mr. Cummings said he wants it understood that no one can come into this building and order furniture without his consent. Mr. Brown moved that the entire matter be referred to the city solicitor. Mr. Cummings seconded, provided the solicitor make a report next Tuesday, for he said the school board busied him for the said room. Motion adopted.

Alexander Johnson petitioned the council for compensation for injuries received. Referred to commissioner of claims.

A motion that Dalton street be accepted was referred to proper commissioner.

A petition from Geo. McIntosh to keep and store gasoline and another from E. W. Clark were read and a hearing was set for Feb. 13.

Alexander Johnson was appointed surveyor of wood and bark.

Harry L. Pevey was appointed weigher of grain, etc. Warren T. Griffin was appointed measurer of wood.

A communication of the Merrimack Valley Waterway board relative to the development of the Merrimack river was read and referred to the mayor, city solicitor and commissioner of streets and highways.

Commissioner Barrett made a motion that the city auditor be instructed to issue a draft for the sum of $2500, directing the city treasurer to pay said sum to the Knox Auto Co., for the construction of a motor propelled fire apparatus as contracted for, received and accepted by the city of Lowell.

Mr. Barrett in presenting the motion said the machine has been received and is as called for, and he wished to inform the members of the council that the money for the same would come out of his 1912 appropriation for the fire department. The motion was seconded by Mr. Donnelly, and this brought forth a little argument on the question. Mr. Brown was quickly on his feet and said:

"This council should not pass this motion until it gets familiar with section 41 of the charter and with other parts of it," he said. "That states that the commissioner of finance shall be the administrative officer of the department. This council may define its policy, but it cannot direct any subordinate to do anything. The charter is greater than any law or ordinance this council can make. The draft will not be paid by the city treasurer until it has my signature. That automobile was illegally contracted for. If this bill is legal and just, then this council can go to the court and get a mandamus requiring me to pay this bill. I will not accept the solicitor's opinion. I held up the bill a week ago. Any action taken by this council will not be sanctioned by me."

Solicitor Hennessy: "I think the commissioner has a misconception of the law."

Mr. Brown: "Who sent for you?"

Mr. Hennessy: "If I may be permitted I wish to state that—"

Mr. Brown: "Cut out all that flowery language."

Mr. Hennessy: "I wish only to state my position."

Mr. Brown: "Who sent for you?"

Mr. Hennessy: "I don't think that makes any difference. I am here as I am at many meetings."

Mr. Brown: "Why were you not here instead of being down in Washington, last fall?"

Mr. Hennessy: "Every solicitor has decided that where labor went into the construction of a thing, it was neither a supply nor a material. This was a contract for the construction of an automobile. Irrespective of this charter, the duties and obligations of the treasurer are not controlled by the commissioner of finance. You are the administrative head of the finance department, but you are not the city treasurer."

Mr. Brown: "You can talk law all day, but until the court directs me to pay that bill it will not be paid."

The question of adopting the motion came up, but Mr. Brown wished to reiterate.

"This order of the council will not mean that the bill will be paid," he said. "That contract was not signed by Brown. It was signed by four men, who must stand for the payment of this automobile."

Mr. Barrett: "The records will show that you voted to have the three fire department automobiles constructed and purchased."

Mr. Brown: "On the belief that these were to be purchased by the purchasing agent."

Mr. Cummings: "Is this a legal motion, Mr. Solicitor?"

Mr. Hennessy: "Yes; the credit of the city of Lowell is at stake."

Mr. Barrett: "This council knows, and the public of Lowell knows, that if it wasn't Andrew E. Barrett who is commissioner of the fire department the bill would be paid. An attempt is being made to hinder me in the control of my department, and I ask the members of the council to support me in my motion."

Mr. Brown: "I am not endeavoring to hamper you. I want harmony."

Mr. Cummings: "My action will be guided entirely by the law of the city."

The motion was then put and passed, Mr. Brown alone being against.

GOVERNORS OF NEW ENGLAND STATES TO APPOINT COMMISSION TO CONDUCT R. R. INQUIRY

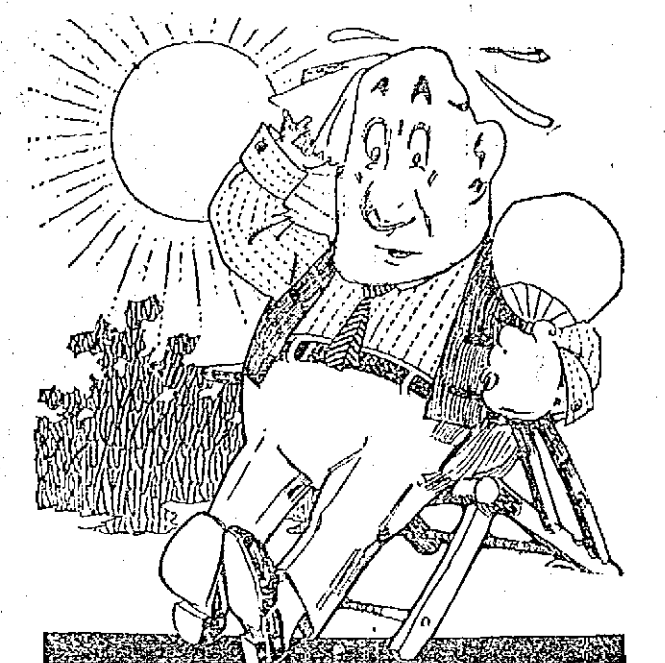

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—The New England states are to make a concerted effort to solve the railroad problem. Two citizens of each of the six states are to be named by the governors, and this body is to conduct an investigation and make recommendations on transportation matters. This method was agreed upon at a conference of governors in this city. Governor Haines of Maine was unable to attend the meeting. Those present were: Governors Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts, Samuel E. Felker of New Hampshire, Allen M. Fletcher of Vermont, Aram J. Potier of Rhode Island and Simon E. Babington of Connecticut. It was agreed that each governor should appoint two citizens of his state as members of a New England railroad conference to consider and report on the best modes of developing and operating the New England railroad system. The members of the conference are to serve without compensation, but their necessary expenses are to be paid by the state appointing them.

BOND FOR $30,000 ARRANGED FOR GENERAL DANIEL E. SICKLES

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—An unidentified friend has come to the rescue of General Daniel E. Sickles, who was in danger of being jailed on account of a suit brought by the state to recover a $23,000 shortage in the general's accounts as head of the monument commission. The suggestion that a fund be raised by popular subscription to pay the debt has been advanced. When the matter of the bond is taken care of Sheriff Harburger and State Comptroller Sohmer will send a letter to the 650 members of the sheriff's jury asking that they help to wipe out the Sickles' debt by donating a small sum each. The members of this body are among the most prominent in New York, financially and socially. Andrew Carnegie, Jacob H. Schiff, James Speyer, John D. Rockefeller and his son, August Belmont, J. P. Morgan and Vincent Astor will help. It is expected that the sum will have been secured to free the general from the jail shadow within a few hours after the letters are received.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS BROKEN OFF

Ultimatum Prepared by Balkan Allies Handed to Leader of Turkish Delegation

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The ultimatum prepared by the delegates of the Balkan allies was delivered by Stojan Novakovich, head of the Serbian delegation, to Rehad Pasha, the leader of the Turkish delegation, shortly after noon today. The determining factor impelling the allies to this course of action was the receipt of reports, during the night and again this morning, of grave ferment among the Turkish troops stationed on the Thracian lines, a large portion of whom appear to be unwilling to follow the lead of the Young Turks.

It is considered here that in view of the internal complications in Turkey Mahmoud Shekel Pasha, the new grand vizier, may yield before the energetic act of the allies.

The gravity of the situation at Constantinople is shown by the large naval forces concentrated by the European powers, especially England, France and Italy, at the entrance to the Dardanelles. Even Austria-Hungary, which in the past, together with Germany, has refused to join the other European powers in naval coercive measures, has now ordered two warships at Pola to be kept in readiness to start for the east at any moment.

While the clouds are gathering in Constantinople those persons who make a study of the European political firmament consider that the general peace of Europe is not in danger. As a proof of this they point to the fact that Italy has just disbanded 150,000 of her soldiers who served in the war in Tripoli. Rehad Pasha, this morning, expressed the hope that the European powers realizing the unfair treatment which had been inflicted on Turkey and which had caused the aggravation of the situation would help the Porte to surmount its present difficulties, thus ensuring the co-operation of the Ottoman empire in the plans of the powers for the definite political and economic settlement of the whole eastern problem.

The text of the note handed by the Balkan delegates to Rehad Pasha today was as follows:

"The plenipotentiaries of the allied Balkan states having since the suspension of the work of the peace conference awaited in vain for three weeks the reply of the Ottoman plenipotentiaries to their last demands and events which have occurred in Constantinople appearing to them to have destroyed the hope of arriving at the conclusion of peace, they are to their great regret obliged to declare that the peace negotiations commenced in London on Dec. 18 last are broken off. The note, it will be observed, does not denounce the armistice. This will devolve on the governments of the Balkan states when they consider the moment opportune."

FORCED ARBITRATION DENOUNCED

By President Samuel Gompers at Meeting of National Civic Federation

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Compulsory arbitration was denounced today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a speech before the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation. Mr. Gompers declared that the attempt to get away from strikes by arbitration is simply the attempt to compress steam or power in a more limited space.

"You may do that for a while but you will have an explosion from which no power on earth is potent to protect. You may make the stoppage of work illegal," he said, "but you don't stop the assertion of the right of the workers to stop working; you won't stop turnouts that result from industrial conditions, and I want to warn you in that, but for Heaven's sake don't burden our laws or our systems with conditions that make our troubles a thousand fold more."

GEORGE TYLER AND LILLIAN MCCARTHY MARRIED HERE TODAY

Groom Is One of Boston Nationals
Twiflers and Reddies in Derby, N. H.—
Bride Is Lowell Girl

This afternoon at 4 o'clock, George A. Tyler, of Derby, N. H., best string pitcher on the Boston National League team, and Miss Lillian D. McCarthy of this city, were married in the rectory of the Sacred Heart church, in More street. The ceremony was performed by Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I. The wedding was marked by the utmost simplicity, with only the immediate relatives of the young couple in attendance. The bride was crowned in a becoming dark blue traveling suit, with a blue tiara but to match. Miss Margaret I. Robarge, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Fred H. Tyler, brother of the groom, was best man.

Immediately after the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler departed on their honeymoon trip, which will include New York and Washington. They will return to Lowell in a few weeks and will take up their residence with the bride's mother, Mrs. John McCarthy, at her home, 1417 Gorham street.

Mr. Tyler, who is popularly known as "Lefty," is a member of the pitching staff of the Boston Nationals, and a former pitcher on the Lowell team. He first met his bride three years ago, at the final game between Lowell and Lawrence, when the home team won. In the spring, when the "Braves" go to their training quarters in the south, Mrs. Tyler will accompany her husband there.

WATER MAIN BURST AT TOWER'S COR.,

STREETS INUNDATED

Excitement While Engines Pumped
From Cellars and Water Dept.

Sought Break—Located at Noon

Great excitement was caused early this morning by rushing waters at Tower's corner and vicinity, and at once it was concluded that a water-main had burst. The water department and later the fire department were notified, and when the fire engines arrived the basements of buildings in the vicinity were flooded some to a depth of fourteen feet. The break was located about noon on the curve near the sidewalk in front of the Donovan building. The water in the reservoir showed a loss of 1,000,000 gallons as a result of the break. The water pumped into the sewers caused the latter to back up in many cellars and thus much indirect damage resulted. The total loss will probably reach $75,000 and it will cost much more to relay a main that will stand the pressure and supply that district with water.

The 12-inch pipe of the city's water supply burst at Tower's corner early this morning and flooded the cellars of most of the buildings located in that vicinity, causing great damage to property and goods of the occupants. The heating apparatus in several of the buildings was disabled, several of the cables of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company were rendered temporarily useless and in many cases business operations were suspended.

Break Discovered Early
The exact time at which the break in the main occurred is not known, but it was discovered shortly before 6 o'clock this morning by John O'Connor, night watchman for the New England Telephone Company, who immediately got into communication with the water department at city hall. Mr. O'Connor, however, although said to have been the first to notice the bursting of the pipe, was not the only one to make the discovery and between 5 and 6 o'clock there were numerous telephone messages from watchmen to the department in regard to the flooding of cellars.

It was some time before the water broke forth to the street, where it was seen by passersby. The concrete walk in front of the Tower's Corner drug store was where the water first broke through and it formed a small fountain there. Almost simultaneously it broke through the paving of the street at the corner of Central and Gorham streets near the junction of the car tracks of the Bay State St. Railway Company. A short time ago the street railway company laid new tracks on the curve and a temporary pavement was placed there which was not as solid, and as strong as the surface of the other parts of the street, and it was here that the water broke through in the greatest volumes, gushing forth and forming a fountain that rose high in the air. The water from these places and from several other smaller streams flowed down Central street to the vicinity of the canal bridge, and was partly frozen, forming a sheet of ice in the roadway.

Fire Department Called
The fire department was called out as soon as the knowledge of the bursting of the pipe came into the office of

EDWARD CHAPMAN ELECTROCUTED

Foreman at Fletcher's Quarry Instantly Killed While Passing
Cable Over Live Wire

Word came from the Fletcher quarry at Westford that Edward Chapman, the foreman, was electrocuted as a result of having accidentally come in contact with an electric wire carrying 1300 volts. The man was killed instantly and parts of his body were burned to a crisp before he could be extricated. The accident happened this forenoon while some men were at work fastening a metal guy rope to a derrick at the quarry. The rope had to be passed over the live wire and the only way in which this could be done was by having a man climb up one of the poles which support the wires and from that position pass the guy rope over the live trolley wire. Edward Chapman climbed to the top of this pole and another man took a position on the pole just beneath Mr. Chapman. Below on the ground were several others and these passed the guy rope up to the man below Mr. Chapman and he in turn passed it up to the latter. As soon as he touched the guy he fell across the live wire and was instantly killed by electrocution, the wire guy rope having evidently short circuited the current. The man below on the pole slid down the ladder on which he was standing and he was unharmed.

Chapman has been in the employ of the Fletcher quarry for about two years. His nearest relatives are living in England, but he has two or three uncles in this country. He has no family. The remains are still at the quarry awaiting the arrival of the undertaker, Thomas Farrell of North Chelmsford.

DRAFT FOR PAYMENT OF AUTO BILL

Turned Over to City Treasurer—
Appointment of Inspector Illegal

City Auditor Falge, acting upon the order of the municipal council and fortified with an opinion from the city solicitor which appears elsewhere today turned over to City Treasurer Stiles, a draft for $3250, for the payment by the city to the Knox Automobile company for the construction of an auto fire apparatus ordered by the municipal council and subsequently accepted by the city.

Commissioner of Finance Brown had ordered both city officials not to carry out the wishes of the municipal council in the matter, incidentally threatening an injunction to restrain the city from paying the bill. Commissioner Brown held a conference at his office with private counsel on the matter at which it is intimated the council was of the opinion that the commissioner would lose should he attempt to prevent the payment of the indebtedness. The city auditor was present at the conference and it was subsequent to the meeting that he gave the signed draft to the city treasurer.

The Knox company of Springfield received the city's check this afternoon.

Appointment Illegal
Joseph Smith, chairman of the local board of civil service examiners, called upon Mayor O'Donnell at City Hall this morning to notify His Honor that if Commissioner Brown has appointed an inspector in the supply department without recourse to the civil service requirements in Mr. Smith's opinion the appointment is illegal. Mr. Smith stated that the position is classed as a clerical position under the civil service laws, and as such can only be filled in the manner prescribed by law, namely from a list of eligibles or by examination.

ST. MICHAEL'S PARISH REUNION A GREAT SUCCESS

Large Party Crowded
the Mathew Hall
Last Evening

REV. FRANCIS MULLIN,
Pastor of St. Michael's

Mathew hall, in Dutton street, was the scene of a very pretty gathering last night, the occasion being the annual reunion of the members of St. Michael's parish. The attendance was extraordinarily large and filled the hall to its capacity.

The decorations consisted of blue and white streamers of bunting and ferns, while the stage setting was a white back ground with the American flag in the foreground.

After the first solo there was a "Grandmother's dance" by the school children, Miss Ruth Mower presiding at the piano. This number especially was well received and greatly pleased the parents and the children were warmly applauded.

There were booths in three corners of the hall on the lower floor, while both ends of the gallery were adorned with two other booths, all beautifully decorated. Ice cream and cake were on sale at these different places and at the close of the evening it was reported that business had been exceedingly good.

Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor, and his two assistants, Rev. Francis I. Mullin and Rev. Denis F. Murphy, were present and their presence greatly added to the general enjoyment.

A delightful entertainment program was rendered in the early part of the evening much to the satisfaction of the large gathering. The program was as follows: Overture, "Our National Airs," orchestra; reading, selected, Mr. Michael J. Mahoney; song, "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," Miss Julia Smith; overture, "Strains of Millard," orchestra; memories of home, "The Old Fashioned Grandmother's," song, "Good-bye, My Love, Good-bye," Mr. Gene McCarthy; Middlesex orchestra, Mr. Frank Degan, director.

At the conclusion of the program the hall was cleared of its chairs and dancing started. Eighteen numbers with several encores were gone through and it was said that a delightful evening was spent by all, young and old.

The afternoon was devoted to the children of the parish, and many a young tot visited the hall at the closing of the schools. The children were royally entertained and the women in charge of the various booths report that their tables were very liberally patronized. A very enjoyable concert was given by the children, under the direction of Miss Mary Joyce, who deserves much credit for the brilliant success obtained. The program was as follows:

Solo and chorus, "This Little Girl is Not for Sale," by the children; recitation and pantomime, "Our Little Grandmothers," Eleanor McPadden, Dorothy Johnson, Mary McCormack, Margaret Mahoney, Lillian Moran, Katherine

TWENTY-ONE SUFFRAGETTES JAILED

After Parliament Rush—Much Plate Glass Ruined—Acid Poured into Post Boxes

LONDON, Jan. 29.—As a protest against the withdrawal of the franchise bill, by the government, the suffragettes resumed their militant tactics last night. While a deputation which the chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd George, had refused to receive until today was trying to force its way into parliament against an overwhelming force, of police and its members were being arrested for resisting the officers, other bands of women went through Whitehall breaking the windows of the government offices, and through Cockspur street ruthlessly smashing the great plate glass windows in the establishments of shipping companies.

The women also visited Oxford, Regent and other streets in the shopping district, where like damage was done. Later, post boxes were attacked, quantities of liquid being poured into them.

Prisoners in Every Station
Twenty-one women were arrested in the vicinity of the parliament building, but were allowed out on bail after the house rose. Most of the police stations had one or more prisoners charged with destroying property.

The demonstration in Whitehall was not so large as some of those previously held, the force of police and a drizzling rain militating against any great turnout. The wildest of excitement prevailed, however, and arresting the women who engaged in window smashing or refused to move on when ordered, the police had the greatest difficulty in protecting the women from an unruly crowd of youths who gathered and hustled every woman wearing the suffragist colors.

In several cases the women were roughly handled. An attempt to duck four of them in the fountain in Trafalgar square was frustrated by a police posse which had to ride through the crowd.

Sylvia Pankhurst Arrested
The entire deputation of 21 women, who attempted to make their way into the house of commons to interview Chancellor Lloyd George, were arrested. The prisoners included Mrs. Drummond and Sylvia Pankhurst, who marched in front. Before starting on their mission the delegates listened to addresses by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and other leaders.

Mrs. Pankhurst said the withdrawal of the franchise bill, including the speaker's ruling, was a plot decided on long ago, and Premier Asquith was aware of it.

"The answer to this treachery," she declared, "is military."

Sylvia Pankhurst said the intention of the suffragettes was to hold the speaker in the chair and leave Mr. Asquith on the bench, and with this the deputation started. The police gave them safe escort as far as the entrance of parliament, where an inspector informed them that the chancellor of the exchequer, would be unable to see them until morning.

Mrs. Drummond retorted: "This is tom foolery. If you do not let us in there will be trouble."

Women Thrown to Ground
At that, the members of the deputation threw themselves at the police, who stood six deep across the entrance, and a scramble occurred in which Mrs. Drummond and another woman were either thrown or fell to the ground.

The police gave the women several chances to withdraw quietly, but as they refused all were taken into custody.

The crowd showed little sympathy for the suffragettes, when they tried to jostle as they were being led to the station by the police. The authorities, it is understood, contemplate arresting the leaders for inciting their followers to break the laws.

Christobel Pankhurst, who is often referred to as the brains of the organization, is believed to be in London directing the demonstrations. She is known to have left Paris where she had been living since a warrant for her arrest was issued at the time her mother, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lawrence were convicted, and all trace of her is lost.

The damage to property last night would have been much greater had the shopkeepers taken the precaution to board up their windows.

REJECTS SUFFRAGE BILL
Minnesota House Votes, 33 to 30, Against Amendment—Opposition Speaker Hissed by Women.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 29.—By a vote of 33 to 30, the Minnesota state senate yesterday rejected the bill of Senator Sagong, proposing a constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote. During the speech of Senator Hackney against the measure there was hissing from women in the gallery, but this was discontinued when Senator Sullivan made a motion that the galleries be cleared if the disturbance did not cease.

Successful Whist
Miss Elmina Larochele conducted a very successful whist at St. Louis' parochial school hall last night. The affair was given for the benefit of the church and was largely attended. Narcisse Gadbois presided and a varied musical program was rendered, those taking part being as follows: Song, Leo Pitts, accompanied by Miss Georgianna Bousquet; song, Miss Della Thibault, accompanied by Miss Ruth Desrosiers; piano and violin duet, Miss Jennie Gendreau and Master Rodrigue Gendreau; comic songs, David Houde, and piano solos by Miss Lida Monroie. Refreshments were then served and the gathering broke up at a seasonable hour.

Among those who assisted Miss Larochele were the following: Mr. Noel Clément, Misses Marie Anne St. Hilare, Laura and Eva Emond, B. Gendreau, Clara Clément, Rose St. Jean, Alice Perigny, Marie Louise St. Hilare, Cecile Levy, Mrs. Joseph Chenard, Mrs. Item Emond and Mrs. Eugene Larochele.

HELLO GIRLS
Many of the Local Telephone Operators Attended Ball in Boston Last Night

The "Hello Girls" of Lowell thought that their recent party was a very pretty one, but those of their number who attended the dance given by the Boston "Hello Girls," in Intercolonial hall, last night, frankly admit that the Boston affair far eclipsed their own. The decorations in the hall were most elaborate and included hundreds of brilliantly colored incandescent lights. Adding to the general attractiveness of the scene were the many beautiful gowns worn by the young ladies present.

Among those from Lowell who attended were Mrs. Pearl Conroy, Susan Eastman, Mabel Whitecock, Lena Kelley and Cecil Mayley. They all spent a most enjoyable evening and are enthusiastic in their praise of the way the Boston "Hello Girls" do things.

TO WEAR GRAY ON FIELD
Confederates Insist on Old Uniforms

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 29.—Unless the confederate veterans are allowed to wear their gray uniforms at the encampment of 40,000 Civil war survivors at Gettysburg on the 50th anniversary of the great battle, the large majority of them will refuse to attend. This was the startling announcement made at an informal meeting held in the Union league to discuss the big celebration. Gov. Tener, the commissioner appointed by him and representatives from a score of states met in executive session to formulate final plans for the encampment.

Gen. Felix H. Robertson of Texas and a member of the United Confederate Veterans, startled his hearers by announcing that unless the confederate veterans are permitted to wear their tattered uniforms they will refuse to attend the encampment. Gen. Robertson declared that the veterans who fought for the south are proud of their uniforms in which they had struggled, and some of them insist upon wearing them every day of the year. The speaker declared that if the veterans of the union army are permitted to appear on the battlefield next summer in their uniforms of blue he said courtesy should be extended to all the veterans.

Tests of the invention were made this week by the commission at the Trocadero Museum and are said to leave no room to doubt that it will be impossible for the cleverest thief to attempt to purloin a picture without giving an alarm.

The device is invented by an engineer named Fusselle, and is a great improvement on other alarm signals in that it cannot be rendered inoperative by cutting. An electric tube is insulated with a coating of baked varnish and containing negative and positive wires. Inside the tube are thin copper sheets, placed a slight distance apart, which form levers for bringing the two wires into contact when outside pressure is applied, thus closing the circuit.

Cannot Cut Canvas
If a hole is bored in the metallic covering with the object of cutting the wire the tool comes into contact with the copper conductor, which sets the bells ringing. The alarm is also given by easing the compression of the copper levers on the inside of the tube.

This week's tests fully show that the tube cannot be tampered with without ringing a bell. Not only does the invention render the theft of a picture impossible, if the wire is cut or cut off, but the principle of exterior pressure, on which the system is based, also serves to give an alarm if an attempt be made to tamper with or cut a canvas from the frame.

LUMBERMEN WORRIED
No Sledging to Haul Out 6,000,000 Feet of Logs in Maine Up to Date

SACO, Me., Jan. 29.—This is the mildest winter since 1815, according to the records on file in the York Institute. No ice was cut on the Saco river that year until February.

There is about 3,000,000 feet of lumber that will be hauled to the rivers and larger streams, if there is any sledging this winter. The lumbermen are worried, as there has not been any sledging yet.

The ice situation is also serious. An ice-making plant is a possibility, although probably it will not be built before another year. It will take a number of cold nights to freeze over the Saco and the river is almost at spring pitch.

Which Itched, Scratched, then Sore Began. Clothing Irritated the Trouble. Cured by Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

39 Cushing St., South Boston, Mass.—"My father's trouble began as small pimples which itched. He scratched them and soon sore began to show on his arms. Later many little ones formed around them. "He used many remedies—salve, ointment, and a few other little things which did not help him. He was cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Two weeks later he was cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Miss Clara Kemp, May 17, 1912.

Frenchman Invents an Electric Device

PARIS, Jan. 29.—A new electric alarm signal which, it is said, will render vastly more difficult the theft or mutilation of pictures and other art treasures, has been taken up by the French commission on historic monuments.

Tests of the invention were made this week by the commission at the Trocadero Museum and are said to leave no room to doubt that it will be impossible for the cleverest thief to attempt to purloin a picture without giving an alarm.

The device is invented by an engineer named Fusselle, and is a great improvement on other alarm signals in that it cannot be rendered inoperative by cutting. TO WEAR GRAY ON FIELD
Confederates Insist on Old Uniforms

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 29.—Unless the confederate veterans are allowed to wear their gray uniforms at the encampment of 40,000 Civil war survivors at Gettysburg on the 50th anniversary of the great battle, the large majority of them will refuse to attend. This was the startling announcement made at an informal meeting held in the Union league to discuss the big celebration. Gov. Tener, the commissioner appointed by him and representatives from a score of states met in executive session to formulate final plans for the encampment.

Gen. Felix H. Robertson of Texas and a member of the United Confederate Veterans, startled his hearers by announcing that unless the confederate veterans are permitted to wear their tattered uniforms they will refuse to attend the encampment. Gen. Robertson declared that the veterans who fought for the south are proud of their uniforms in which they had struggled, and some of them insist upon wearing them every day of the year. The speaker declared that if the veterans of the union army are permitted to appear on the battlefield next summer in their uniforms of blue he said courtesy should be extended to all the veterans.

AN INGENIOUS DEVICE

For Rescue of Persons Caught in Elevators

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—A novel screw jack, designed for the rescue of persons who are trapped in elevators, has been designed by the officers of the Boston fire department. A patent has been applied for, and the device has given such good results in every test made of it that its inventors are confident it will be the means of saving many lives.

Capt. Edward J. Shadow and Lieut. Michael P. Silva of Ladder 1, on Friend street, are the two officers to whose ingenuity this machine is due. Each of them is called upon many times a year to go to the rescue of some unfortunate person who has had the misfortune to have a high caught between the car and the wall.

At present it is necessary to almost tear apart the elevator or to saw a piece out of the flooring and lift the body through the hole. This takes much time, and while the workers are doing their best, the injured one is suffering.

The jack, instead of having a lifting power, is built to be used for its pushing power, which is rated at about 10 tons. When it is placed in position and men begin to wind it the elevator is forced upward.

The jack has a heavy steel block near the end, through which the big screw passes. The block is movable and is placed between the elevator and the wall.

The screw, on being turned, pushes through this block against the elevator with the end against the wall. As the screw is turned the block is drawn back and forces the car away from the wall and releases the pressure.

The men of Ladder 1 are proud of this machine and show it to every visitor to the company quarters. Both inventors are clever designers.

A VIGOROUS PROTEST

Boston May be Port of New Steamship Line

ST. JOHNS, N. B., Jan. 28.—Reports that Boston may be made a port of call for the new West India steamship line, which the dominion government has been asked to subsidize to the extent of $100,000 a year, have caused a vigorous protest from business men in both in this city and Halifax. These anxiously awaited today replies to the communication sent by the local board of trade to George E. Foster, minister of trade and commerce; J. D. Hazen, minister of marine and fisheries; and William Fergusson, M. P., at Ottawa, in the communication President J. M. Robinson in the board of trade said: "Our board and every West Indian shipper canvassed protest vigorously against the Boston call as dangerous to Canadian interests and as likely to divert business from Canadian ports."

Continued

The department and three engines, namely number 4, from High street, number 10, from Fourth street station, and engine number 2, from Branch street, all of these got to work at once pumping the water out of the buildings. Engines 4 and 10 were assigned to the Donovan building, where the water had filled the cellar of the Lowell Trust Company to the depth of about 12 feet or more and by fast and efficient work they succeeded in reducing the depth to about five feet at 11 o'clock. Engine 5 went to work at Cook & Taylor's dry goods establishment and soon had that cellar cleared, except for about six or seven inches in the end. About 20 members of the fire department under the direction of Chief Hosmer and the assistant chiefs were engaged in the work in a very short time after the break was first reported.

The Break Located

It was not until after the noon hour that the exact point where the pipe burst was found and it was located directly in front of the Lowell Trust Company's door, a distance of about six or seven feet from the curb. It was the 12-inch water main and up to the present no cause could be assigned.

Search For the Leak

The men of the water department were gotten out as soon as possible and they set to work at once to locate the break in the pipe. Several excavations were begun, one in the sidewalk in front of Campbell's drug store and another at the junction of the Middlesex and Central street car tracks. All of the cable man holes were opened and by means of hand pumps the water was sent gushing forth from the great streams. A large crowd of people were attracted to the scene by the excitement and a squadron of policemen were kept busy keeping them back of the ropes.

It was evident from the first that the break in the pipe was near the Donovan building. The pavement of the street was broken through at this point and in short time afterwards the force of the water, which had escaped from the main, washed away the earth from underneath and left nothing but the hard Massena pavement. This was in a way a great help to the men in discovering the exact location of the source of the flood. It cleared the earth and stone away from the pipe for several feet. The bystanders were ordered away from the spot because of the danger of the street caving in and the workmen, heedless of it and the cavity caused by the wash-out and searched assiduously for the break in the great pipe.

Trust Co. Flooded

The cellar of the Lowell Trust Company suffered most of any of those that were flooded, for the water rose to a depth of ten or twelve feet, filling the entire cellar. In it were stored some old account books, loose leaf ledgers and loose checks which were found in this city, and they were for the most part totally destroyed. Although the financial loss from the destruction of these will not, say the authorities amount to much, nevertheless it will be the cause of great inconvenience. Fortunately, an order had been sent to New York for a quantity of the loose checks and these are ready for shipment, so it was learned by telephone communication with the firm this morning and they will arrive at the bank as soon as the trains can carry them.

Most of the employees of the company had clothing and other articles in a room in the basement of the bank and these were badly damaged by the water. Everything perishable which the company contained was reckoned a total loss. The fires which heated the boilers were extinguished and all stores had to be pressed into service for heating.

Telephone Co.'s Basement

The basement of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company was flooded to a depth of about four or five feet and the fires in the heating apparatus were extinguished by the water. The cable containing the North Chelmsford lines was disabled for a time but was repaired so as to be ready for use before noon. Several of the other lines, including those in the building in which the Lowell Trust company is located, were out of order and several of the outside cables were damaged.

By breaking into the sewer by means of a trap, the men at the Telephone company managed to get the water out of the basement in a comparatively short space of time and the fires in the furnaces were rebuilt. Everything possible was done by the management to repair the damage to the wires and cables and most of the lines are now in working order.

Liquor Store Watered

The cellar in the liquor dispensing establishment of Dennis Conroy was another to be flooded by the water from the main and here great damage was done. In this cellar were about ten barrels containing whiskey, gin, brandy and rum and these had been damaged to some extent, although Mr. Conroy was unable to give any estimate because it was impossible for him to enter the cellar. Some of the barrels were floating and had been carried away from their original positions on the floor of the basement. It is thought that these will be almost a complete loss.

Water Gates Closed

The portion of the pipe that burst was underneath and measured approximately eight feet in length, and the ground in the vicinity was underlain for an area, the diameter of which was about 20 feet, leaving nothing but the pavement. The two water gates at the corner of Middlesex and Gorham streets were closed as soon as possible as were also those located near the Boston & Maine depot and this in great measure stopped the strong flow of the water onto the street and into the buildings.

Two engines pumping water from the basement of the Lowell Trust company sent it into the sewer by means of a hose connection.

Not more than a foot and one-half depth of water entered the cellar of the drug store of Frank J. Campbell at Tower's corner, and he said that his damage would amount to approximately $100. There was not much of value stored in this basement and the water was not deep enough to reach the goods which had been placed on tables and shelves.

The management of the Cook & Taylor Dry Goods company could give no estimate of the damage to their store and goods, but this, too, much have reached a considerable amount, for the water flooded the basement to a depth of about three feet. There was a large quantity of cloth in this basement and also quilts, blankets, clothing, etc., and a portion of this was damaged, though, perhaps, not totally destroyed.

In the fruit store of Mr. Janovitch, situated near Tower's corner, there was a quantity of fruit and candy stored in the basement, and here the water caused a heavy loss. The damage to the shoe store and to the drug store of Mr. Moody, at the corner of Appleton and Central streets, was not very great and neither suffered much from the flood.

The Damage

There may have been some indirect damage to the buildings nearby for the exceedingly hard pavement of the street kept the water from gaining an outlet and forced it into the walls and cellars, tending to weaken the foundations.

The total damage cannot be estimated at present but it is roughly estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000.

Telephones Out of Order

Early this afternoon one or two of the suburban telephone lines, including that to Westford and West Chelmsford, were still out of order and patrons could not get into communication with people in those towns.

Mr. Leathers, manager of the Telephone Co., stated to a Sun reporter today that the statement that 500 lines were out of order is an error, and that the disabled lines will not reach that number. He stated further that about 350 lines were temporarily out of use, representing 800 subscribers. It is hoped to clear up the other lines before night.

The Car Service

Because of the prompt action of officials of the Day State Street Railway that company suffered little inconvenience through the bursting of the waterline through this morning. The Westford main street and the Chelmsford street lines were operated as before, without any interruption of service. The cars on these lines proceed up Central street to Appleton instead of up Gorham, as they ordinarily do, and the Boston and Chelmsford street cars did the same, crossing over Appleton street to the main tracks on Gorham street.

The cars which traverse Middlesex street were stopped at Merrimack square to Tower's corner, where passengers changed to the conveyances which awaited them on the Middlesex street tracks. There were starters and several flag men stationed at Tower's corner to guide passengers and instruct the motormen and conductors of the various branches.

Commissioner Barrett on the Job

Commissioner Barrett was notified of the break about 6 o'clock and was on the scene in a short time. He directed the work carried on from Branch street and Fourth street, and kept them pumping out the cellars throughout the day. He notified Commissioner Danahy, who sent a crew of men at work on each catch basin in the vicinity, while another crew with 10 teams scattered sand on the sidewalks along Central street, on which the water had formed a coating of ice.

Commissioner Barrett ordered the water works employees to rip up the street in an effort to locate the leak at an estimated cost of locating it in a few hours.

In regard to the cause of the leak, Commissioner Barrett stated that the cause will be fully investigated as soon as possible.

At an early hour the water service in the vicinity was shut off, but before the shut-off the reservoir showed a loss of one million gallons as the result of the leak. Owing to the nature of the pavement on Central street the water did not seep down to reach the surface directly, as it hence forced its way through any available opening, which accounts for so many cellars being flooded.

Former Main Breaks

The last serious accident of this kind took place on Jan. 6, 1907, in East Merrimack street in front of the Immaculate Conception church. In this case the water forced itself to the surface directly on the ground, and a year previous a similar accident occurred in Broad street, while another occurred in the pumping station yard.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or mail order; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

THE PANAMA TOLL QUESTION

Secretary Knox's reply to the note of Sir Edward Grey, protesting against the clause of the Panama canal bill exempting American coastwise shipping from the payment of tolls, has been received with disfavor in England. There is also a great difference of opinion in America, as to the justice of the arrangement. It is alleged that to exempt American coastwise shipping from payment of tolls, is to violate the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. Mr. Root, who succeeded John Hay as secretary of state, holds this view. Theodore Roosevelt, who, as president, Nov. 18, 1910, caused the treaty to be made public, said in his speech of acceptance last August: "We have a perfect right to permit our coastwise traffic, with which there can be no competition by the merchant marine of any other nation, so that there is no discrimination against any foreign nation—to pass through that canal on any terms we choose, and I personally think no toll should be charged on such traffic."

Sir Edward Grey contends that it would be impossible to make a distinction in the case of American shipping, without indirectly imposing some disadvantage upon British shipping. This assertion Secretary Knox does not answer directly but says it is based on mere conjecture, and that the question should be threshed out by diplomatic discussion between the two countries.

To England's request for arbitration the secretary answers that this should not be considered until the resources of diplomacy have been exhausted. At Baltimore, Saturday, January 25, President Taft, who signed the Panama canal act, declared that he is "willing to admit that there are arguments on the other side," and that he is "willing to rest our case with a tribunal that is impartial." That, however, does not refer to the Hague tribunal.

THE REAL WILSON

Much uneasiness has been manifested in certain quarters regarding the real policies of President-elect Wilson. Since his election he has refrained from definite statements concerning the plans for his administration. This, however, is to Mr. Wilson's credit. Presidents, in recent administrations, kept the country in turmoil by continuous discussions of governmental plans, many of which, as later events showed, were forgotten as soon as announced. Governor Wilson, on the contrary, has shown a disposition thus far to think long before he announces his plans. He, furthermore, has laid more emphasis on the broad principles underlying beneficent legislation, than on the proposed laws to remedy special evils.

By some who do not approve, or profess not to understand his methods, the president-elect has been accused of dealing in generalities. He deals in generalities as Washington and Lincoln dealt in generalities. But he has already demonstrated that he knows when the time comes for the application of specific remedies. We have seen cases in which great issues have been left to be solved by officials who should have solved the situation on a broad basis devoted themselves mainly to technicalities. Do not all our strikes, panics, market fluctuations show us examples of this? To many, nothing is wrong that does not constitute a violation of an existing law. It is the man who has not forgotten the broad principles of justice who sees events in their true relation to the community.

As governor of New Jersey, President-elect Wilson showed an unrelenting pursuit of law breakers; he has said, and shown, that no individual or corporation that in business, violates a law can do so with impunity. We advise those who think him vague to have patience for a little while; let them speak and think of him as a "visionary" and "idealistic" if they choose. In his addresses to congress he will state plainly what the country needs and his critics will doubtless then be convinced that the interests of this great nation are safe in the hands of a president who holds high ideals, who has visions of righteousness, and who speaks plainly at the proper time on the needs of the people.

BATTLING CONSUMPTION

The attention of the people of this country is attracted by the offer made by a New York banker, Mr. Charles E. Emory, to the effect that he will pay one million dollars to Dr. F. F. Friedman, of Berlin, if that distinguished scientist can cure the banker's son-in-law, Rex Lee Paris, of tuberculosis, and if he also cures ninety-four other victims of the disease in this country. It is plain that the banker's main object is to save his son-in-law, who was a noted athlete and one of the finest men physically in the country. The banker's proposition is rather sweeping. It can hardly be expected that a patient in the last stages of tuberculosis can be cured by any specific. It is reported that Dr. Friedman has discovered a serum that will cure consumption. This statement must be taken relatively. The cure of consumption means the cure of cases that have not reached an advanced stage. To expect that Dr. Friedman, or any other doctor, could cure the more advanced cases, is to look for the impossible. However, it appears that this specialist has taken the banker at his word and in coming to this country to see what he can do towards curing the ninety-five patients and winning the offered prize. If he can demonstrate that the serum he has discovered for the cure of consumption will really cure, then this particular case will serve as a world-wide advertisement. It may be remembered, however, that Dr. Koch, a German physician, came out at one time with the statement that he had discovered a specific for the cure of consumption. The Koch serum did not work, however, and the medical men have been fighting the white plague in the old-fashioned way, by means of fresh air, good food, rest and healthful recreation.

If the banker's son-in-law is not too far gone in this disease he will be cured even though the Friedman serum is but a myth. He is now in a sanatorium at Lake Saranac, N. Y., and is reported to be merely holding his own. If he is able to hold his own against the disease his recovery under skillful treatment is quite probable. The case will be watched with intense interest especially by those who are afflicted with the disease.

THE TURKS AT BAY

The world is now anxiously watching the war zone as every moment may bring unexpected complications. A few days ago it was supposed that the envoys had secured peace, by wringing a toll of territory and money from Turkey. With Muslim understanding of the sacrifice, however, came a revulsion of feeling, and the outcome shows that the energy displayed, when the Young Turks came into power with the deposition of Abdul Hamed, has not entirely disappeared. The Young Turks have again secured control of all the branches of the government. They are expected to refuse the ceding of Adrianople, and the Aegean Islands, but declare they do not desire war.

Constantinople is reported as in a state of siege, and there is no telling what may happen there in the present reign of terror. The new party is arresting its adversaries, searching houses and clubs, and confiscating documents, hoping thus to break up the organization of the opposition. Meanwhile, fearing outrage, the London ambassadors of the powers have advised a naval demonstration, and British and Italian warships are on their way to the Bosphorus. There is something tragic in the effrontery of the young Turks, confined as they are to a small strip of territory, with the Balkan states like war dogs at their heels, and the guns of the powers menacing them from still holding out, hoping for easier conditions of peace, or foreign intervention.

At present the Turk is at bay, so to speak, for whether it be peace or a resumption of the war he is bound to lose. The whole Muslim tribe should be driven bag and baggage from the continent of Europe.

THE PROFESSIONAL POLITICIAN

In there not something incongruous in the attitude of the American public with regard to the term "politician"? In a Sunday lecture in Boston, Rabbi Charles Fleisher called attention to the need of more business men in politics, and fewer professional politicians. In our schools we are taught admiration for the great law-makers of the past, and yet when we read their lives we find that in their day most of them were professional politicians. Success in any walk of life prompts the man who succeeds to continue his endeavors in that sphere of activity in which he has excelled. Why should political success be an exception? The same laws that govern municipal politics, govern state and national politics, and there should be no reproach in the ambition of one who has succeeded in the latter, to aspire to the greater.

When we speak of professional politicians, we mean in many cases professional office seekers, who, though not aspiring to political office, follow the fortunes of political candidates, hoping to secure some favor. All public men are familiar with this type, who fawns and threatens by turns,

AT THE CLUB

Joe was usually engaged in the pursuit of a well known sporting publication in the comfort of his window seat in the reception room of the club when he was interrupted by the noisy interruption of his friend Bill. "The fellow should be practicing and not carelessly throwing his bat on a board by chair, went over and took a seat next to Joe. Finding that the determination of the new year's resolutions permit further reading, Joe indignantly tossed the magazine aside and the other nothing the cover remarked: "I see you must keep away from the old baseball fever, even in the winter, Joe? Well, I suppose you fans find some consolation in reading all that dogma about the sporting world's terrible off-hand for week's past about so-and-so preparing to select new material for the Giants, and such-one having decided to leave the Boston Americans—or, I mean the Red Sox (that's the nickname, isn't it?) to play with the Ipswich Canabals, and Manager Gray having his men all picked to report for practice as soon as the snow that has not yet appeared clears away from the diamond. Who are you betting on this season, or is it too early for you to decide?" "Huh, you ridiculous of our national game give me a pain; just because you do not know enough about baseball to create a healthy interest in the sport, you want to poke fun at the wise ones who appreciate its value. To satisfy your curiosity, I will tell you that I am betting on the Yankees. I don't believe in all this dope that goes the rounds each winter. My greatest interest is in college baseball. That is a game that is fostered and cleared up at that; no fighting for money or gate receipts. The visiting team gets a guarantee of expenses, or takes a contract just to defray the cost of its trip and keep up its athletic association."

sometimes proving of temporary value to an aspirant, but more often, a hindrance.

When the American public changes its view concerning politics, particularly in municipal elections, we may hope for the type of business man whose absence from political office is now so generally deplored.

REWARD FAITHFUL SERVICE

The office of labor commissioner is about to become vacant in New Jersey. Recently a delegation of labor men waited on Governor Wilson, and urged him to appoint a new man to the position. Mr. Wilson is reported to have said in part: "Public office is not worth anything if an entirely satisfactory fulfillment of the duties of an office does not entitle a man to consideration for re-appointment. If men are to know that a mere change of administration is to empty an office, no matter how much they deserve to be re-appointed, there is not anything of justice or public right left."

Such a declaration is significant at this time when the president-elect is about to be confronted with a like situation on a much larger scale.

While aviators here seem to be enjoying a lull in their sensational feats, the Associated Press reports the almost simultaneous flight of Aviator Bider over the Pyrenees, and of Jean Bleauvel, the Peruvian aviator, over the Alps. We have not yet forgotten the tragic fate of George Chavez, who, in September, 1910, flew across the Alps, only to be fatally injured on alighting. Bleauvel, a compatriot and friend of Chavez, has avenged him by his triumph over the same towering peaks.

TWO LOTUS EATERS

"Courage," he said, and pointed toward the land.

This mounting wave will roll us in the afternoon they came unto a land.

In which it seemed always afternoon. All round the coast the languid air did breathe like one that bath a weary dream.

Full-faced above the valley stood the moon; And like a downward smoke, the slender, slow-drooping veils of thinnest lawn, did go.

And some thro' waving lights and shadows broke, Rolling a slumbrous sheet of foam below.

They saw the gleaming river seaward flow From the inner land; far off, three mountain tops.

Three silent pinnales of aged snow, Stood sunset-lushed; and, dew'd with showery drops, Up-clomb the shadowy pine above the woven copse.

The charmed sunken finger'd low adown In the red West; three mountain clefts the date

Was seen far inland, and the yellow down Bordered with palm and many a winding vale

And meadow, set with stunted gallingale; A land where all things always seem'd the same!

And round about the keel with faces pale, Dark faces pale against that rosy flame, The mid-ey'd melancholy Lotus-eaters came.

Branches they bore of that enchanted laden with flower and fruit, whereof they gave To each, but whose did receive of them.

And taste, to him the gushing of the Far, far away did seem to mourn and rave On alien shores; and if his fellow spake,

His voice was thin, as voices from the grave, And deep-sleep he seem'd, yet all awake, And music in his ears his beating heart did make.

They eat them down upon the yellow sand, Between the sun and moon upon the shore, And sweet it was to dream of Fatherland, Of child and wife, and slave; but evermore,

Most weary seem'd the sea, weary they weary the wandering fields of barren foam, Then some one said, "We will return no more!"

And all once they sang, "Our island home Is far beyond the wave; we will no longer roam."

BOYS PLEAD GUILTY

Breaks Charged Against Them in Milford—Formerly Taken Back to Lyman School

MILFORD, Jan. 23.—In district court yesterday afternoon, Judge Williams heard the cases of three juveniles charged with breaking, entering and larceny. The offenses that led to the arrest of Edward McKenna, Luigi Janatelli and "John Tebbetts" were the robbery of the stores of Pathway Hardware at 60 Central street and of A. J. Burke at the corner of North Bow and Central streets, Jan. 11. All pleaded guilty. Joseph P. McIntyre, agent for the state board of charity, attended the hearing. Judge Williams filed the case against McKenna and returned him to the care of the state board. The case against Janatelli was placed on file and he was committed to the care of Capt. William G. Pond, local court probation officer.

The case of "John Tebbetts" developed a surprise, as he was identified as Peter J. Gormley of Brockton, who had been sent to the Lyman school at Westboro in May, last, from the Lyman school in Brockton, and escaped in December of that year. His case here was placed on file, and a Special Officer Hennessy of the school was here to get him, he was taken back again.

"NO ONE MAN POWER"

Eastern Railroads Again Declare Against the Erdman Law Arbitration

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Objection to arbitration under the Erdman act was reiterated in a statement last night through Elsie Lee, chairman of the managers' committee by the 34 Eastern railroads, whose firemen are taking a strike vote, because of the split over methods of arbitration of the firemen's wage and other demands. The act was drafted, the roads declare, "to settle labor disputes on single railroads, not on all the railroads of a large territory." The railroads have maintained that the Erdman act places too much power in the hands of the third arbitrator to guarantee the safeguarding of the rights of the public.

ONE KILLED, 12 INJURED

Police and Strikers in Street Battle

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 23.—Deputy sheriffs and strikers from the Rankin plant of the American Steel & Wire company clashed last night and one man was killed and 12 other persons were injured, several of them fatally. All the wounded, except two deputy sheriffs and a policeman, were spectators. Not a striker was injured as far as can be learned. Among the injured were several women and a six-month-old child.

Little in Streets

The deputy sheriffs and the strikers collided on Hawdick avenue, one of the principal streets of Rankin borough, which adjoins the city. The county officers, armed with revolvers and rifles and the strikers, armed with revolvers and stones, battled for one hour, within an area of two street squares. The rioting and shooting ended when the deputy sheriffs retreated within the fence of the mill.

Two dead men, George Kozley, was twice shot in the stomach.

The injured are: Fritz Beck, shot in head, mortally hurt; John Seblan, shot in left arm; Richard Parish, shot in left leg; Annie Leba, shot in stomach; Walter Barnett, chief of police at Rankin, head lacerated; Michael Miller, aged six months, shot in left ear; Charles Geman, shot in stomach; Anton Andak, shot in breast.

Two deputy sheriffs were shot in the back and two unknown negroes received bullets in their legs.

The strike at the plant of the American Steel & Wire company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, started less than a week ago. The strikers, mainly are foreigners employed as laborers in the galvanizing, shipping and fence wire departments. They are paid at the rate of 10 cents an hour, or $1.50 a day of 10 hours. They are demanding 20 cents an hour.

Riot Started Saturday

The first outbreak occurred Saturday night when the strikers and the policemen of Rankin clashed, and nine persons were injured during the melee, a majority of them being officers. Many shots were fired.

Last night strikers from the hills surrounding Rankin borough occasionally directed shots toward the yards of the mill. Sunday was quiet, but early Monday morning the deputy sheriffs dispersed the strikers and Sheriff Bruff issued an order closing all saloons.

This was followed later by the probable fatal shooting of a deputy sheriff. Yes, Burgess J. Knox, William of Rankin issued a proclamation declaring the borough in a state of riot. He established a "dead line" of 300 yards around the plant, warned all children from the streets and continued the order to keep all saloons closed.

RING CURFEW FOR GIRLS

Mayor Hurley Issues Order in Salem

SALEM, Jan. 23.—Simultaneous blasts by steam whistles and clangor of fire alarm bells filled the air of the city last night subsequent, will warn all girls in Salem under 16 years of age respecting about the streets without respectable adult escorts, or subject themselves to interpretation by the police, and possibly arrest.

For a long time disgraceful actions by young girls on the streets about the entrances of hotels and business blocks has shocked thousands of people.

Mayor Hurley yesterday issued an order to the police department to have the fire alarm give warning at 3:45 p. m. every night to all the girls to proceed at once to their homes. All girls under 18 years of age found loitering about the streets after 9 p. m. each night without respectable adults will be dealt with as is deemed best for their interests.

Mayor Hurley stated yesterday that he meant business in issuing the order, as he had seen enough since he was indicted into office to convince him that many parents in Salem and contiguous cities and towns have been grossly negligent in caring for their daughters.

The order to be enforced will in no way interfere with respectable girls going to and from their homes or present them from attending church services, theatres, entertainments or visitations to the home of relatives or acquaintances.

The order does signify that tough girls, who shriek and laugh loudly, indulge in coarse language and are in company with hoodlums, must in the future find their homes by 9 p. m. each night or appear in the police court for further disposition.

He was permitted to land and went to a hotel.

WALKER RAPS REPUBLICANS

Explained the Progressive Beliefs

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—The Hon. Joseph Walker, republican candidate for governor at the last election, but now a bull moose, last night explained the progressive beliefs to the Worcester county progressives at an organization meeting at Worcester. He said in part:

Old Party Hopeless

"It is with a deep sense of relief and satisfaction that I find myself tonight among those with whom I am in real sympathy. In my heart I am a progressive and always have been. I have been fighting the progressive fight for years. In this light I have had the unyielding opposition of the responsible leaders in the republican party. Yet I have hoped against hope that the republican party might see the light, and that in the end progressive principles and progressive policies might prevail.

"There was real hope of this so long as the progressives remained within the party. But when the split came and the progressives left the party—100,000 strong—the fight became hopeless.

"The future leadership in the republican party was definitely settled in the recent senatorial contest. The bill for the direct selection of United States senators had been defeated by the old guard. The legislature was besieged by machine politicians and by the agents of the interests. The progressive party and a man of high personal character, but one of the most pronounced reactionaries in the commonwealth was chosen senator.

One Course Open

"But one course, I believe, is now open for every liberal in the republican party, and that is to join the progressive party and carry on the fight for progressive principles and policies under progressive leadership.

"Now, what are the progressives fighting for? What are the principles of the progressive party?

"The progressives recognize the fact that women, as well as men, make up the body of the people.

"The progressive believe in representative government under constitutional restraint. They see clearly, however, that neither constitutions nor representative bodies should be permitted to defeat the deliberate will of the majority.

"The progressives stand for direct nominations and for direct elections. The progressives stand also for direct legislation, the initiative and referendum.

"My friends, I am naturally conservative. I have come to believe in these progressive measures by slow degrees, and only after much study and observation. For this reason my conviction is all the more firm.

"Now, we must remember that all these progressive measures are but means to an end. The great object of the progressive movement is the social welfare.

"I wish to remind you, in conclusion, that good political machinery will not insure good government. I have no illusions on the subject. Good men in public office alone will insure good government. In the last analysis, good government depends and must always depend, not upon political machinery, but upon the political activity of public-spirited, disinterested citizens.

The 24th annual indoor track and field championship meeting for schools under the auspices of the Boston Athletic Association, will be held in the Charles Hall, Saturday, March 1.

What's the matter with having a Y. M. C. A. track team here in Lowell? There has always been some track work done at the local gymnasium but there never was a regular track schedule for anything definite done in the way of fostering track athletics. With the new building in shape and the track season at its opening a first class team could be secured for the material hand. Other Y. M. C. A.'s are competing right along and it is not unreasonable to suppose that the sport loving public would like to see some of them in action at the new building.

Whether Howers can beat Exley in a 1000 yard race will be conclusively decided on Saturday afternoon in the dual meet with Newton High. These two boys should make the going fast from the crack of the gun and if Newton has any class in this event the distance race of the meet will be the feature.

Gov. Odie of Nevada is quoted as stating that prize fighting is brutal and must not be permitted in Nevada in the future. In a message to the state legislature, however, he recommends the repeal of the present law, which allows flesh fights upon the payment of a license fee of $1000, and recommends an amendment fixing 20 round battles with a reduced fee as a substitute. The fights that made Nevada famous all terminated in less than 25 rounds. Fitzsimmons knocked out Jim Corbett at Carson City, March 17, 1897, in 14 rounds, and Johnson stopped Jeffries at Reno on July 4, 1910, in 16 rounds.

It will be a case of horse and horse when Billy Papke and Frank Klaus meet in Paris for the middleweight championship of France next March. Both Papke and Klaus are Germans and fighting before a French audience for a title is as funny an incident as ever was recorded in fighting history.

Joe Tinker has not given up hope of signing Johnny Kling for his Cincinnati team. The new Red manager spent some time in Kansas City trying to persuade Kling to play with his club, to no avail. Tinker plans to visit Kling next month and make another try.

Ralph Glaze, formerly a slaban for the Highlanders, has been purchased by Wilkesbarre from the Montreal (International League) club. When they start going back they are fast, and such is the case with all demon athletes.

George Mullin of the Tigers is still the property of the Detroit club, although he has been offered for trade or sale by most of the exchanges for the last two months.

The Lawrence high school track team, according to the Lawrence Sun, is a pretty classy aggregation this year. If we are to believe the Lawrence paper, the down-river boys are some coach. Sidley never did anything in track, to my knowledge, and it is all that is touted to be it must be from hearsay instruction. Sidley, however, turned out a very creditable football team last fall and it would be well not to underestimate the Lawrence team.

A short time ago I was asked if I thought any man could become as competent an official as a man of equal ability who had played the game. I answered emphatically in the negative. It stands to reason that no one can be so cognizant of the intricacies of any game as the man who has been there and knows from experience just what conditions are liable to arise and be prepared to meet them. External study of any game is not an adequate training without the actual participation. Especially is this true of football and track athletics. All the reading and watching in the world won't convey the feeling and impulses of the athlete in competition. There are also some men who think they can compare as coaches with men who have played the game. This is, of course, the height of egotism. How a man can possibly set himself up to tell athletes entrusted to his care that certain things are right and certain other things are wrong is beyond me. Aside from everything else, a great many men have been athletic failures simply through the lack of mutual understanding between themselves and their coaches.

The ideal conditions for an athletic coach and his pupil is first that of confidence in his ability and then sympathetic friendship. The competent coach who is a personal friend to all of his men will always turn out a real team.

The writer of this column is in receipt of a letter asking for information regarding the low hurdle event. The writer has signed himself H. B. and wants to know the correct number of strides between hurdles, form for taking hurdles, etc. According to Mike Murphy and Dr. Bowler accepted as the greatest of hurdle coaches, seven strides should be taken between the low hurdles when set 20 yards apart, or in the 229 yard race, and three strides when they set 10 yards apart. There are a few men who have been able to negotiate the longer flight with five strides in between but the shorter distances the three stride style is universally accepted. This brings the same leg in play each time a man rises for a hurdle. A hurdler using both legs as hurdle legs is not near as steady as the man who uses the same one all the time. Another thing—it is naturally just half the work to perfect one leg that it is to perfect two. Then again a hurdler is not so easily thrown out of his stride by hitting the obstacle if he is using one leg exclusively. The straight leg style is used altogether now. The idea is to clear the hurdle with as little to spare as possible, and to reach the track with the forward leg as quickly as is possible. Every second man is suspended in air if he loses speed as Howe of Yale demonstrated in 1909 when he beat Gardner of Harvard, a much faster man, by clipping the hurdles a trifle closer than the Grinnell flyer. There are many exercises that tend to strengthen the knee and at the same time loosen the joint muscles is the one to perfect the hurdling leg.

It is significant that in the face of their defeat last season, nearly every American league directing boys issue the warning, "Look out for the Mackmen!" They know that the team did not play up to form last year. The players were also over confident. They took things too easy in the early stretch of the campaign, and couldn't close the gap later. The Mackmen missed the rich world's series fall of gold in October, and they want to be eligible for the big checks again. Therefore, they can be expected to play savagely from the start of the next brush.

Open house, So. Ends, tonight.

Joe Gargan Makes Good in Athletics at the Notre Dame University at Notre Dame, Indiana

One of the best all around half-backs who ever wore the red and gray of the High School football team is Joe Gargan, at present a student in Notre Dame university, Notre Dame, Ind. Joe showed great promise at the High school when he first joined the football squad. Since then he has more than lived up to the athletic career that he early gave promise of and has shown what a boy with confidence in his own ability can do if he only makes up his mind to do it. Joe started for the western university without the first idea in his head about the difficulties surrounding a freshman's path in the midst of a strange environment. Without any friends to await his arrival and with only a note from the writer of this column to the football coach to have acquaintance upon the youngster set forth on his quest for knowledge and football fame. We hope he has received the former but all uncertainty about Joe's football ability has been settled by a letter which has been received by the writer from the football coach. "Bullet" Marks, the old Dartmouth star and the present coach of the Notre Dame football team, wants to know if there are any more like Gargan left in Lowell and if there are to ship them on. Joe likes the place so well that he expects to stay in Indiana all summer. More news to you, Joe!

SOUTAR AND WILLIAMS TO PLAY FOR
WORLD'S RACKET TITLE AND $10,000

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—Professional rackets of a high order will be played in the United States this winter when Jack Soutar, the professional of the Philadelphia Racket Club, and Charles Williams of England play for the world's championship. The match will be for $10,000 and will be a home and home affair, one half being played in Philadelphia and the other in England. While no date has been set for the match, the first half will probably be played in March. The outcome of the contest has already provoked lively discussion. Williams is known to be a clever, resourceful player, while Soutar, who belongs to the younger school, developed by George Standish, the former champion, is one of the most promising professional players in the United States. Since he has been in Philadelphia he has improved wonderfully and is thought by many to be the master of Williams. Williams won the title from Jamsetjee, the Hindu, in May, 1911.

The Highland Methodist team defeated the team from the First Primitive Methodist in the Baraca league roll-off in a mighty well bowled match. Kilpatrick of the winning team had the highest three strings to his credit with a score of 310.

The Eldoras were the victors in their match with the Old Sixties by the score of 1229. L. Beauregard of the Eldoras was high with the total of 290.

K. O. SWEENEY WON JASPER IS CONFIDENT

Defeated Tommy Moore Of Defeating Bay Wood
---Other Bouts
Friday Night

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 28.—K. O. Sweeney of New York got the decision over Tommy Moore of this city in the main bout at the Marlborough A. C. last night, when Referee Finnell stopped the bout in the 14th to save Moore from a knockout.

Sweeney led from the start and would have won the bout on points, even if Moore had stayed the limit. He put Moore down for the count of four in the ninth round. In the 14th Sweeney sent a right hook to Moore's face and Moore toppled to the floor for the count of nine.

The local boy surprised the fans by jumping up and standing off the fighting New Yorker, but he went down for the count of nine again with an inside right to the jaw. He was getting up when Finnell stopped the bout.

Two Boston boxers took part in the seminals. Young Clancy boxed a draw with Kid Willett of Fall River, and Walter Watts of this city won from K. O. Byers on a foul. Byers was disqualified for hitting on the break-away.

Decision to Kid Thomas
NEWBURYPORT, Jan. 29.—Kid Thomas of Lawrence was given the decision over Young Murray of Salem last evening before the Newburyport A. C. the bout going the full 10 rounds. Thomas had it all his own way early in the bout, but Murray came back strong and all but earned a draw. John McManis of Salem won from Pat Daver of Haverhill. Young Vanity of Lawrence was picked as a winner over Young Lebrun of Salem. Kid Stanwood of this city was knocked out in the fifth by Young Ketchell of Lawrence.

To Legalize Boxing
MILWAUKEE, Jan. 29.—That the Social Service commission of the Milwaukee Federation of Churches will support a bill legalizing boxing and that few objections could be raised to the show of the South Side A. C. Monday, is the purpose of a resolution issued by Rev. Robert A. Ashworth at George W. Adams yesterday. The report reads:

"We favor new legislation that will allow boxing matches under supervision, and that shall strictly define the meaning of the term and prohibit gambling and brutal slugging matches."

Rev. Ashworth and Mr. Adams attended the boxing bouts and while they found a few features objectionable, they were evidently surprised at the lack of brutality.

Rev. Ashworth admits that he likes good clean boxing and believes it is an excellent thing for schoolboys to learn the art of self-defense.

Textile School Sports
The managers of the class basketball teams are arranging an inter-class schedule of games to be played after the semi-final examinations are over.

Manager Hubert Bennett of the baseball team has his schedule for the coming season pretty nearly completed. He has one more date to fill with a preparatory school in Maine, which will make the trip through the state complete. The trip will cover a period of five days, and is something out of the ordinary for a team to do. Captain Davenport has been looking the new material over and expects to have a banner team.

The Greens were the winners in their game with the Blues last night at the C. Y. M. C. of Hingham. The Blues again played with only four men in their lineup and were beaten by the score of 16 to 7. Maher and P. Flynn were the individual stars each man getting three baskets from the floor. The next game will be between the Blues and the Reds.

First Track Meet
Saturday Afternoon
ANNEX, 3 O'CLOCK
Lowell vs. Newton

Young Jasper, the fighting Italian from the Hub, who is to meet Bay Wood, the nifty lightweight of Fall River in the main bout here on Friday evening, is putting in considerable work in preparation for the encounter. He now has the services of Ed Nelson's trainer, and avers that he will be in perfect condition when the going sounds for the starting of the first round. Jasper realizes that he will have to go his best to hang a defeat on the Frenchman, and he asserts that he will be there when the meeting is called to order. Jasper has met Flynn on several occasions, and all matches resulted in even awards. On the last meeting here of Flynn and Jasper, the latter showed a big improvement over his former matches here and he gave a very good exhibition. He is cleverer than Flynn and against Wood ought to show up well. Wood is confident of defeating Delmont's protégé, and owing to the fact that he has rested up since last defeating Flynn, he should be in tip-top shape. His bout before the Lowell club will be recalled as one of the fastest bouts ever seen in Lowell, and the members are elated over the fact that they are to see the little machine again in action. The bout is scheduled to go 12 rounds, but providing the limit is reached the spectators are sure to see some action. Henry Myers of Charlestown and Young Delmont of Lawrence are on for the semi-final of eight rounds. In the preliminary Young Evans of this city will exchange greetings with Kid Williams of New York, and in the other six rounds Kid Halpin of Lowell will stack up against Mickey Mulcahy of Worcester. The meeting will be held on Friday evening in Mathew hall.

Local Middleweight Boxer to Meet Tom Kennedy in Manchester on Next Tuesday Evening

Joe Thomas, the clever local middleweight, has been matched to meet Tom Kennedy of New York, at Manchester on Tuesday evening, February 1. Joe is in fine shape and is confident of getting the best of Kennedy in the final round is reached.

Soccer Notes
The regular semi-monthly meeting of the officials of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill Soccer League was held Monday afternoon as usual, at the Essex house, Lawrence. Little business could be transacted as the league closes the season in two weeks' time and the real work, well of course, begins then. It was decided, however, to award 12 gold medals to the team winning the league race, the spare man receiving one as well as the regulars.

William Flynn, the manager of the Bunting team, has proved himself an able executive by the manner in which he has handled the South Lowell soccerists. The Buntings, not considering of much account among the leaders at the beginning of the season, but developed fast and made a hard run from behind.

The New England Referee's Association has perfected its plans for the grammar school soccer leagues in several cities. In Manchester the game is in full swing among the younger boys and general satisfaction has been expressed over the results of competition in this line of sports.

The association expects to place Lowell as well as Lawrence and Haverhill in the list of cities with grammar school soccer leagues. We hope you do; the more sports the merrier.

The Methuen and Light-Blue clubs play at Manchester on Saturday next and the following week will see the Olympics and Light-Blues in action at the same place. These should be two mighty fast games and will be witnessed by the regular large attendance at the New Hampshire team's grounds.

A large crowd of local rooters will journey to Methuen on Feb. 5 to take in the Methuen-Bunting contest. This should prove to be a very close game, as the team from Lowell has greatly improved since the last game between these two teams. Perhaps the booters from down below will receive a big surprise. The Bunting men are certainly putting up a good game at the English sport.

This is one form of sport that the Chinese have shown great adaptability in. There are several Chinese players who are credited among the best. Right in Andover they have elected a Chinese member of the team by the name of Chung King, captain of the team for next year.

The annual reunion of St. Peter's parish took place last night in Associate hall, and the affair was a most successful one. The gathering was the largest ever seen on a similar occasion and the success of the evening was very gratifying to the organizers. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion with bunting and American flags, and the stage where the orchestra was seated, was daintily set with American flags and varied colored lighting. The booths along the walls were also attractively decorated. The booths did a thriving business throughout the evening.

A most delightful entertainment program was rendered by local talent as well as by professionals from the Merrimack Square and Kett's theatres, much to the delight of the large attendance. In the afternoon the children visited the hall and indeed they were very numerous. They were highly entertained by Prof. Baril, who pleased the little ones immensely with his magic feats. Several interesting and enjoyable numbers were also rendered by the children.

Several clergymen from the parish were present and their presence materially added to the success of the evening. At the conclusion of the entertainment the seats were moved from the hall and general dancing was enjoyed. Fifteen numbers were gone through with much vivacity and the various booths along the hall were well patronized and the financial success of the 1913 reunion was highly satisfactory.

These responsible for theattering success of the reunion were the following:

WORCESTER, Jan. 29.—George E. Hunt, a Worcester coal dealer, and former member of the common council from ward 1, was arraigned in the superior court yesterday before Judge Ratigan on a secret indictment, charging him with attempted bribery of Deputy Sealer of Weights and Measures Charles Ross. TEAM WORK WINS

Bear in mind that of the winner it is always said:—"The team worked as a unit."

The interests of Massachusetts and of the Boston and Maine Railroad are identical.

The road can only be successful as the business of the State is prosperous, and a united public opinion makes both possible.

GET TOGETHER

In this age of derogation let Massachusetts set a new standard.

Operating problems cannot be properly handled by men who are hampered by destructive attacks on the work they are endeavoring to do

PLAY THE GAME

Cooperation is the keynote of success.

The railroad is already doing its part.

REV. J. C. WILSON

Has Gone to Fill a Pastorate in Nova Scotia

The many friends of Rev. J. C. Wilson will be sorry to learn that he has resigned as pastor of the Chelmsford Street Baptist church, in order to take up other duties in New Glasgow, N. S.

He held his last services at the Lowell church on Sunday, and both in the morning and the afternoon, there was a remarkably large attendance. After the evening services, the pastor and his wife held a reception in the church and were overwhelmed with good wishes for their future happiness and success. The parishioners presented Rev. and Mrs. Wilson with a bouquet of roses and a basket of pinks.

Many of their friends went down to the depot to see them off Monday morning when they took the 6:30 train for New Glasgow. Mrs. Wilson was given a bouquet of white pinkies and members of the Philanthropic class and there were many other little tokens of regard from intimate friends.

MISS TULLY SURPRISED
Receives Token of Esteem From Friends in Bigelow Mills Which She Leaves to Become a Nurse

Miss Margaret Tully entertained a large gathering of her friends at her home, 364 High street, last evening. The occasion was in the nature of a surprise party because the hostess was presented with a fine travelling bag by her friends and fellow workers at the Bigelow Carpet mills, where she has been employed for the past 15 years, in the Brussels winding room. She has recently given up her work there, preparatory to taking up the study of nursing at St. John's hospital.

Walter Barrett made the presentation speech, and told Miss Tully that all her friends wished her success in her new undertaking. The young lady gracefully expressed her thanks in a few well chosen words.

During the remainder of the evening there was a very pleasant entertainment, which included piano solos by the Misses Kennedy, L. Hart, Condon and Warnock; songs by Walter Barrett.
